NAZIS GAIN IN ONE SECTION

But Russians Hold in All Other Areas in Stalingrad Battle.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Oct 5 — German troops in Stalingrad, in a determined drive on a factory settlement, forced the Russian defenders to withdraw somewhat during the night, but the Red army held the Germans on all other sectors of the front, the Soviet communique said today.

Northwest of Stalingrad, the Russians reported a Soviet unit launched an attack and improved its position

In other fighting in this area, a Red army unit battling for possession of a strategic height killed 150 Germans and destroyed some German equipment, it was reported.

The ferocity of the fighting within the city was indicated in the report that artillery and mortar fire wiped out a battalion of enemy infantry and destroyed 24 machine-gun posts and six gun and mortar batteries.

A furious German infantry attack was reported from the northwestern front but the communique said it had been repulsed with heavy losses. Four hundred more Germans were killed in the fighting for a populated place north of Voronezh, it added.

HOUSE SATISFIED WITH U. S. PLANES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—Official combat statistics, showing that American planes and pilots are "meeting and beating the enemy" convinced a congressional committee today that United States army aircraft "are more than a match for any of the planes that are now pitted against them"

That formal assurance—drawn from the figures of planes downed and from the testimony of some of Uncle Sam's ace birdmen—came from the house military sub-committee on aviation.

"In the final analysis," said the report to the house," it is the box score that counts. It is idle to compare the speed, performance and maneuverability of the plane against another when engaged in war. These, in actual combat, are academic questions"

The committee cited these figures:

1 "From February (date at which accurate breakdown figures by type of plane started) through Sept. 20—enemy planes destroyed in combat by army aircraft for all types on all fronts 279. United States planes de-

Japanese Hear Stalin Warning on Aid To Axis

(More on Stalin Statement on Page 11.)

By The Associated Press

As if obliquely warning Japan against any back-stab to facilitate German victory, Joseph Stalin has proclaimed Russia's power to resist the efforts of Germany "or any other aggressive power to secure for itself world domination"

The Russian ordeal at Stalingrad and in the deep Caucasus marked today by reports of defense lines rectified but unbroken, has for weeks been generally construed as a glowing temptation to the Japanese to strike at oriental Russia

The fact that such a blow has not fallen is not so much a credit to the neutrality pact between Russia and Japan as it is to the increasingly demonstrated capacity of the Red army to curb the German invasion.

Stalin's proud appraisal of Russia's power was expressed in a carefully penned letter to Henry C. Cassidy, chief of The Associated Press bureau at Moscow.

Second Front Question

At the same time the Russian premier, defense commissar and commander-in-chief said that the question of an allied second front to help Russia was "of first rate importance" and that "as compared with aid with which the Soviet union is giving to the allies by drawing upon itself the main force of the German Fascist, the aid of the allies to the Soviet union has so far been little effective."

The defenders of Stalingrad on this forty-second day of siege, were reported to have fallen back somewhat before a determined German drive on a factory settlement there, but official Russian reports said that the Germans were being at least held on all other sectors.

Northwest of the battered Volga metropolis a Russian attack was said to have improved the flank position against the Germans. Flanking operations by the Red army were designed to pinch off the German forces in Stalingrad before they can be further reinforced.

From the Mozdok region of the Caucasus a minor Russian success was reported—the repulse of a German column trying to fight its way through a mountain gorge.

More than a half-million axis troops, principally German, were engaged in a tremendous effort to win a local decision at Stalingrad before the Germans shift to winter strategy of holding their gains against Russian counter-attacks.

Axis Troops Reinforced

The Moscow party newspaper Pravda said that two more infantry divisions and one tank division had arrived recently before Stalingrad, bringing the to-

SHOVEL CO. RECEIVES MARITIME "M" TODAY

County's Scrap Drive Goes Into Big Cleanup

Piles in Rural Area Continue To Mount with Campaign Entering 2nd Week; City Schools' Canvass Will Start Tomorrow; Yards Receive 203 Tons in First Week.

Marion city and county schools jumped into the most intensive period of the three-week scrap metal campaign this morning, cheered by a response that has already brought in 203 tons in the first week's work.

The county schools sent groups of students into fields and farmyards this morning to assemble scrap in piles for hauling. Some schools had their work so far along that they started using trucks this morning

Throughout the county the work was ahead of schedule For example, the city schools canvass will begin tomorrow, but Greenwood students reported they already had such a scrap pile on hand they sent it to the junkyards—nearly two and one-half tons of metal from one elementary school. And they promised they'll have another big pile by the end of the week.

Chance for Award Seen

Marion junkyards took in 21 tons of scrap Saturday to bring the first week's yield to the 203-ton mark The schools and other groups cooperating in the nation-wide scrap drive sponsored by the country's newspapers saw in this rising tonnage a chance for Marion county to win one of the awards offered to counties and states that show outstanding results on a per capita basis.

Meanwhile, school pupils throughout the nation were reported by The Associated Press to be joining in the drive on a nation-wide basis today. Millions of pupils already had started to work, some of them a week ago, but today saw virtually every school in the country taking part in the drive led by the newspapers.

State governors have called upon them to do a complete job and as they went about the search for old metal needed by the mills' war furnaces, they had this assuming word from President Roosevelt.

"I know they'll do their part"

Some County Reports

One of the many outstanding jobs being done by Marion county students came from Kirkpatrick where four members of one family, three boys and a girl, worked until dark Tuesday, assembling and hauling scrap to the school junk pile. Rather than wait on the trucks to come around later to pick up donations, they decided to do the whole job themselves and haul the metal in as fast as they found it.

At Green Camp, girls went out with wagons and wheelbarrows to help get in the scrap while the boys tackled the larger jobs of dismantling heavy machinery.

Olney Avenue school students brought in a sword and scabbard donated by a Marion man who found the relic in his garage.

At Forest Lawn, first graders showed they could help get in the scrap by bringing in more than 300 keys.

The Meeker school reported approximately 12½ tons collected to date, including farm machinery.

Kirkpatrick Group Does "All-Out" Job

Four children of a Kirkpatrick family made an all-out effort to collect scrap for the nationwide scrap metal drive two days last week when they not only gathered up the material but hauled it themselves to the school scrap pile by tractor and mud boat. The children are Joann Burris, 12, Charles, 10, Bobby ,9, and Billy, 8, living with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Easton Burris, on a farm on State Route 98.

Until they could see no longer because it was dark, the four children gathered junk neighbors had promised them and piled it together with scrap from a pile in their own woods on their mud boat. Charles, a sixth grade pupil in the Kirkpatrick school, drove the tractor.

Other children at the school are working busily on the scrap effort too. Three groups of boys went out with wagons or carriers and trailers to gather more scrap from the [illegible] hood, William Harris [illegible] intendent, [illegible] lecture [illegible]

Jim Lemke, Ray Knapp [illegible] Heed and Merle Winters

The rest of the 21 tons of the school from the fifth grade to the eighth and the Pleasant high school were sorting scrap, cleaning down corn planters, pulling separators, rollers [illegible] off rubber tires or removing [illegible] from many articles which were donated to the drive last week. The girls stayed at school and made doughnuts which they planned to serve to the boys this afternoon

CIVILIAN NEEDS UNDER STUDY

President Tells Conference All Commodities To Be Distributed Equitably.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Oct. 5 — President Roosevelt said today that the government "will do everything that it can to see that the products available for civilian needs are allocated in an orderly and equitable fashion."

The Chief Executive said in a message read at the Boston conference on distribution — a national forum of distributors—that it is "essential that those whose obligation it is to provide the machines by means of which the products of our farms and factories reach the consumer seek in every way possible to expedite the free flow of goods."

"If this is not done" the President added, "there may be unnecessary dislocations which will tend to hamper the war effort We have already had evidence of those possibilities

"It will be the patriotic duty of the nation's distribution system to make certain that the orderly flow continues

"The members of your conference will I know, undertake this duty in the spirit in which the suggestion is made—for the national good."

Harold Beresford Butler, British minister to the United States said in a prepared address that the United Nations could not establish a second front on the European continent "without risk of disastrous results" until they had sufficient ships for transportation and aircraft "for complete mastery of the air"

England, he said, now is completely mobilized for total war.

LOWER LIVING STANDARD SEEN

Change To Be Forced by Higher Tax Rates, Senator Declares.

WASHINGTON, Oct 5 Back-straining taxation that will force a downward revision in the standard of living soon was forecast by Senator George (D-Ga) today as the senate prepared to receive a new revenue bill calculated to extract more than $25,000,000,000 yearly from citizens.

George, as chairman of the finance committee, told reporters that taxation enforce loans to the government to aid in financing the war must be started to reduce purchasing power in the future, adding:

"Every 1 per cent addition that is made to these proposed tax rates for compulsory savings or loans to the government is going to push the standard of living down that much. It can't be escaped. Our living standards will have to change when we go beyond the rates in this bill."

Departing from treasury figures George estimated that the present revenue would add $9,672,000,000 to the $17,000,000,000 annually taken from the taxpayers under present laws. Of this amount he said $1,772,000,000 would be collected and later refunded to taxpayers after the war, leaving $7,900,000,000 in direct new taxes.

As approved by the committee, the bill would provide for an aggregate rate of 24 per cent on the taxable income of individuals in the lowest brackets, graduated upward to the point where an 82 per cent surtax would be assessed against those with larger incomes. Some corporations would pay up to 90 per cent of their net taxable income.

"I think the rates in this bill, both on individual and corporate income, run very close to the maximum direct tax burden that the country can bear," George said.

The senate did not expect to begin debate on the measure until tomorrow.

Lewis Arrives Today for Miners' Convention

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 5—John L Lewis was due here today to take the lead in charting a program and formulating policies for the annual international convention of the United Mine Workers opening tomorrow at Music hall

Many of an expected 2,800 delegates arrived here during the week-end for the two-week convention, and committees began considering resolutions

In a conference yesterday, the United Dairy Farmers of America, a division of district 50 of the UMW, approved resolutions pledging all-out production and requesting government officials to "remove every obstacle which prevents or restricts fulfillment of the pledge."

The UDF called upon 4,500,000 dairy farmers in the United States to join in an effort to attain "an equitable return" for labor above production costs and condemned the Farm Bureau Federation and the Farmers' Union for "using their office to betray the best interests of the farmer."

OUR WATER SUPPLY

Editor of The Star: According to press reports plans are all on paper calling for a large addition of consumers of water from the Marion Water Co. supply. Hundreds of new houses and water for the ordnance plant.

Can those wells of the company withstand such a drain during the summer months and will pumping equipment prove adequate?

The ordnance plant is not a private enterprise and is not handicapped by lack of funds, and to drill an artesian well or wells as needed would not halt them for one moment.

It's quite evident that there will be need for lots of water, for a large volume can be forced through an eight inch main, such as the plant has figured on having. It seems to me that now is the time for some of our influential citizens to present the idea to the plant people and get their views on the situation before it's too late, for in case of a shortage the plant would be first to feel the ill effects, being several miles away from the pumps.

Next in line would be all upstairs lavatories, baths and all other plumbing. Think of the unsanitary condition our city would be in should we be without water as long as 48 hours.

Just a few years ago our city had an offer of government aid to build a city hall and the majority of voters turned a cold shoulder to the proposition, and we may never be able to receive such aid again. But this water shortage possibly is of far more importance than that city hall and some persons, I believe, should take the matter up with the right people as soon as possible

Now let us hope that every citizen of the U. S. A. will endure a few heatless and meatless days if need be, and without one dissenting murmur, but may Heaven forfend us from any waterless days.

MOTORIST'S COMPLAINT

Editor of The Star: About 11:45 a m, Sept 30, I was approaching West Center street at the intersection which faces the "Stop-Light" restaurant. As I neared the intersection I had a green light but seeing what I assumed were school children walking on Center street I approached quite below the legal speed just as an extra precaution in case the light should change. It did. I stopped to let these children go, and of course, for the light.

When the light again changed to green these same school children, who appeared old enough to know better, continued to "gang" right on across the intersection, totally ignoring the red light and some looking at me with an attitude of "so what." I again had to stay there until the light again turned to green and then had to yell a warning at some of them.

It is a sad commentary on the instruction these children get at home and in the schools when they will ignore the common decencies in this respect, worse their utter disregard for the rights of others and their ignoring of the same laws that were passed for their own protection

Hoping you will publish this letter for the benefit of greater safety, I remain,

Respectfully,

"I urge you men here at Marion—every one of you—to work intensively, to work full time Keep on the job Make sure the friends of Hitler — waste, lost time, accidents—are eliminated. Keep up that same patriotic effort that has won for you the pride and confidence of your government.

'The Maritime 'M' pennant and victory eagle flag which you have just won for past performance symbolizes to the nation—work well done' At the end of six months your production performance will again be reviewed and if it merits—the second award, a gold star will be added.

"I know you will work to win that star—to speed the day of victory and the day when 'our boys' from all over this great nation of ours will be 'home again'

"I present to Mr Shelton the United States Maritime commission's most coveted award the Maritime M' pennant for achievement in production'

Shelton's Acceptance

Acceptance of the award was made by Mr Shelton, president and general manager of the company, in a brief talk devoted largely to giving credit for the pennant to the company's workmen.

'In behalf of the Marion Steam Shovel Co and its employes, it is with great pride that I accept this award from the United States Maritime commission," he said

"I appreciate your coming here to help us celebrate this honor which has been bestowed upon this organization and, Mr. Schmeltzer upon your return to Washington, will you please convey to Admiral Vickery our appreciation of this award and the help and cooperation his organization has given us I am also pleased to tell you that in performing this contract we have had great assistance from the Marion Metal Products Co of Marion, O, and the Morrow Manufacturing Co of Wellston, O, as sub-contractors

"Not only are we making these cranes to help build Liberty ships, but we are building cranes to load and unload them in ports throughout the world We are building shovels to dig copper ore, iron ore, limestone for blast furnaces, coal and practically all of the basic materials All of this must be done before we can have and transport implements of war

Praise for Employes

"Early this year I told our manufacturing organization that we had contracted to produce 50 per cent more tonnage than has ever been produced by this company in the same period of time This projected tonnage has not only been accomplished, it has been exceeded We are ahead of schedule! Credit for this accomplishment goes to our employes who have given their help and cooperation They have worked seven days a week and 10 and 12 hours a day when required, without complaining I want to thank our labor union, its officials, and all departments of the Marion Steam Shovel Co for the good work they have done

In conclusion, I want these guests on this platform to know that they are looking into the faces of 100 per cent Americans ready to give all of their energies in an effort for victory. We, as a group expect to continue buying bonds and putting forth our best efforts not only to maintain the present schedules, but to still further increase our production."

Passing the pennant over to the company's guards, Mr Shelton instructed them to raise it on a staff above the plant The Harding High school band played Song of the Victory Fleet"

Presents Workers' Pins

Mr Schmeltzer then made formal presentation of the individual workers' pins which indicate they work for a company that has received the "M" pennant

In presenting the labor merit insignia to Roy Bixler president of Marion Lodge No 1949, United Steelworkers of America, Mr Schmeltzer said,

'I am pleased to present to you, as a representative of the workers here, the labor merit award badges of the Maritime commission You are each of your fellow workers, will, we hope be proud to wear this badge given in recognition of your achievement The United States Maritime commission looks to you and your fellow workers to continue this cooperative effort to increase it where possible so that at the end of six months we may return to add another gold star and say 'Well done'

'By so doing the maritime 'M' pennant which has also been presented to this plant and is now flying above will take on added significance—final victory for the United Nations, with a just and lasting peace"

Accepts for Workers

Accepting the insignia on behalf of all employes Mr Bailey said

I know I express the feeling of everyone of my fellow workers here at the Marion Steam Shovel Company when I say Thank you for the recognition of our effort

'We are proud of this symbol of production for two reasons—because it proves we are doing our part in the war effort and because it shows our individual efforts have not been in vain

"You have our word we will uphold this production to the best of our ability in the future"

Next came the address of Lieut Governor Herbert who brought greetings from Governor Bricker unable because of illness to attend, and who added his praise of the workers for doing a production job that attracted the favorable attention of the Maritime commission

Praises Workers

The text of Mr Herbert's address follows.

Today the men and women of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. receive recognition for outstanding effort in the war program from the government of the United States, typified in the coveted Maritime M' Award This award is significant because it comes from a government that belongs to the people Ours is the only country in the world where elections are held and an accounting is made to the people Hence this award really comes from the people of the United States of America

"The Marion Steam Shovel Co is among our oldest and most respected industries in Ohio It was a peacetime industry, educating its efforts and its products to peace and its blessings When the war came, this great manufacturing plant went through the difficult period of changing over to a full-time war production This change was made quickly and efficiently by reason of the loyal cooperation and patriotism of all of the folks connected with the plant Once the change to full war production was made, the energy and the efforts of every person were given to the urgent task of bringing victory to our country

"By this effort you have become better Americans By this long-continued strain, you have made Ohio's production for our common country greater. The determined application of your skill and strength has made America stronger and has helped to bring nearer the day of victory and a just peace

"I believe that back of every effort that we now make should be the ever-present thought of our men in the armed forces upon the battle-fronts scattered throughout the world and on the seven seas What you have done, here in the past months and in the months to come has saved and will save the lives of American boys. It has been proven at Pearl Harbor, on the Bataan Peninsula, at Wake Island and Guam at Midway, and in the Solomon Islands that the American soldier and sailor of today have a spirit and willingness to sacrifice life, for country fully equal to the spirit that drove Washington's bleeding soldiers at Valley Forge to fight for victory and independence

Cites Ohio's Record

"Ohio may well be proud of its soldiers and sailors now in the service. Ohio may be equally proud of the mighty record war production that our state has given to the federal government and our common country Our production efforts have been rewarded repeatedly with recognition by the navy, by the army, and by both the army and the navy together—in the 'E' awards, the 'M' awards—yes, even in awards recognizing that Ohio has exceeded her quota in giving of her blood that soldiers and sailors wounded unto death may live.

"Today, Ohio stands second among all the states in the number of citizens who are devoting their full time to the war effort. Ohio stands at about a tie for second place among all the states in the amount of actual implements of war that have been furnished to the men in the lines

'You are keeping the faith with our men in uniform and with our common country. You will keep the faith in the future You are contributing mightily help to that day that will come when peace returns and we, who have been at home, can say to the returning soldier, to the wounded comrade, and to the spirits of their dead—'We have kept the faith You have sacrificed, and have died—but American lives

Following the talk, the Harding High band accompanied the entire crowd in singing 'God Bless America" The band played Stars and Stripes Forever" in the closing number of the program.

Basis of Award

The award was made for the company's outstanding production of war materials

The company's principal product for the maritime commission is cranes varying in capacity from three to 43 tons The cranes are mounted on steel portals or frames and are used in ship building and for loading and unloading ships

Schmeltzers Visit Old Friends Here

Mr and Mrs Schmeltzer came to Marion from Philadelphia, where on Saturday Mr Schmeltzer awarded the 'M' flag and labor merit badges to the Selby Battersby Co, for production of floor coverings and plastic armor for ships of the merchant marine They were met at Crestline by Mr Shelton, who brought them to Hotel Harding

Yesterday and today their free time was spent renewing acquaintances with Marion friends Mr and Mrs. Schmeltzer left here 11 years ago and for the last eight years have lived in Washington They were to return tonight.

ROOSEVELT INDORSES BENNETT FOR GOVERNOR

White House To Back Democratic Candidate

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—The New York political picture was in sharper focus today following President Roosevelt's announcement he would support Atty Gen John J. Bennett Jr, Democratic candidate for governor.

The President, who had backed the candidacy of U S Sen. James M. Mead (D-NY) for the governorship, said in a statement issued at the White House yesterday that he would vote for Bennett because he considered him the "best qualified of the three major candidates

The President's statement was warmly received by Bennett and State Democratic Chairman James A. Farley who supported Bennett against reported White House opposition.

Herbert Brownell Jr., campaign manager for the Republican candidate, Thomas E Dewey, called the Presidential indorsement 'something to be expected"

Leaders of the American Labor party, whose candidate is Dean Alfange, said they were withholding comment on the indorsement until later.

Wickard Urges Migration of U. S. Farm Families

By The Associated Press

PEORIA, Ill, Oct 5—To relieve the shortage of farm workers, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard today advocated a great migration of farm families from marginal soil to land which can be worked more productively

Estimating there were about 2,000,000 farm families who might take part in such a movement, he said the migration was "a pressing wartime necessity" and held more promise than any other measure now under consideration by the department of agriculture

In an address written for the National Catholic Rural Life conference here, Wickard said "It seems to me that this situation offers an opportunity to abolish the rural slums of America." He added:

"Today there is danger that some large rich middle-western farms may lie idle next year through lack of some one to work them, while farm families in the Appalachians are living in poverty because they have not enough land to work"

Escaped U. S. Prisoners Recaptured at Massillon

Highway Patrolmen Arrest Pair Fleeing Michigan Jail.

By The Associated Press

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich, Oct. 5—The additional charge of Jail break will be filed here by District Attorney Joseph F Deeb against Leo Dawson, 19, of Wellsville, N. Y, and Charles E Glancy, 24, of Muskegon, Mich, escaped federal prisoners who were recaptured over the week-end by state highway patrolmen at Massillon, O

The men, identified when Cleveland police questioned them in connection with an attempted restaurant holdup, escaped shortly after midnight, Sept 28 from the Ottawa county jail at Grand Haven

Dawson, who also used the name of Leo Rider, had been sentenced to six years in prison on a kidnaping charge and Glancy to 3½ years for transporting a stolen auto over state lines Both were awaiting transfer to a federal prison.

G.O.P. Expected To Gain In House, But Not Obtain Control, Poll Indicates

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 5—With exactly one month from next Tuesday, Republican prospects for winning additional seats in congress are favorable. But the indications at present are that the G.O.P. will not have control of the house.

The Republican gains will not represent any important change in political sentiment but will come about largely because of a marked advantage in the total national vote, which will affect the Democratic card votes more than the Republican.

On the basis of present estimates of turnout, G.O.P. gains will be confined to between 15 and 35 seats, depending largely on how effective Democratic party efforts are in getting out the vote.

From the Institute's most recent test of sentiment based on interviews in selected areas throughout the country in the past two weeks the most likely division of the House is estimated as follows:

Est. Democratic Seats	248
Est. Republican Seats	182
Other Parties	4

The Republican vote is larger than the number who go to the polls in the last election—162 seats. But it is still short of the 218 necessary to win control of the House.

39 Million Turnout

From evidence at hand, voting this November will be extremely light. The Institute has estimated that only 39 million people will go to the polls. This is 10 million below what would be normal for a mid-term election, and 20 million below the turnout in 1940, which was a presidential year.

By far the greater proportion of non-voters will be Democrats. Institute studies find that for every 1940 Republican who does not vote, there will be two Democrats. For that reason the light turnout will actually help the Republicans.

The effect of turnout can most readily be visualized by comparing today's estimated Democratic seat total of 248 with the number which the party would likely win (1) if the turnout were normal for a mid-term election, and (2) if the turnout were as great as in the last presidential election.

On the basis of Institute studies of election sentiment, here is how the seats would divide if the turnout were normal, which would mean about 40 million votes:

If 40 Million Voted

Est. Democratic Seats	270
Est. Republican Seats	160

If, on the other hand, all 50 million voters who cast their ballot in the last presidential election were to vote this November, the results would be as follows:

If 50 Million Voted

Est. Democratic Seats	244
Est. Republican Seats	186

Hence it is clear that the turnout factor alone spells the difference between Democratic gains and Republican gains.

Mid-West Gains

The chief Republican gains are likely to come in the Middle Atlantic and the East Central areas, the band of states stretching from New York and New Jersey westward to Illinois and Michigan. That is where the past two weeks' polling has indicated the greatest proportion of Democratic seat losses.

It is also the area in which many Democratic seats in the house were won in 1940 by narrow margins.

Out of slightly more than 50 Democratic seats won by a 5 per cent margin in 1940 throughout the country, 33 are in the Middle Atlantic and East Central sections.

Thus it would not require much relative loss in Democratic turnout to push those marginal seats over into the Republican column.

The Institute's congressional estimates are based on the average shift in each of the major sections of the country and not on studies in any particular congressional district.

Obviously in any particular district a candidate, because of his local popularity, might beat the trend.

In the recent Maine election, for example, a popular Democratic candidate, Louis J. Brann, former governor, ran far ahead of the Democratic state ticket in the race for congress in the First District.

M'SWEENEY ON TOUR AS CAMPAIGN OPENS

Dates Set for Crawford, Delaware and Union Co. Visits.

By The Associated Press

Ohio Democrats, led by their candidates for governor, moved into the fall campaign in full force today.

John McSweeney of Wooster, the gubernatorial nominee, opened a two-week tour of east, southeast, central and southwest Ohio with rallies in Trumbull county. He will close this week at Portsmouth.

John W. Bricker, Republican governor seeking reelection, was prevented from doing any campaigning by an attack of influenza that put him in bed. All appointments were cancelled through Tuesday, but he may make a radio talk tonight if sufficiently recovered, a spokesman said.

As McSweeney began his tour, state Rep. Lody Hunt (D-Cuyahoga) asserted in a letter to members of the legislature that the Bricker administration was extravagant and that its treasury surplus "should have been $100,000,000."

McSweeney was scheduled to appear in Girard, Niles, Warren and Kent today. The remainder of his announced itinerary was: Oct. 6—Lisbon, East Liverpool, Carrollton, Scio, Cadiz, Marietta, Ferry; Oct. 7—Woodsfield, Marietta, McConnelsville, Caldwell, Cambridge, Zanesville; Oct. 8—Coshocton tab; Oct. 9—New Lexington, Logan, Circleville, Lancaster, Chillicothe; Oct. 10—Hillsboro, Batavia, Georgetown, West Union, Waverly, Portsmouth;

Oct. 13 — Sunbury, Delaware, Cardington, Galion, Crestline, Ashland, Mansfield; Oct. 14—Marysville, Bellefontaine, Indian Lake, Urbana, Springfield; Oct. 15—Washington C. H., Wilmington, Lebanon, Yellow Springs, Xenia, Dayton; Oct. 16 — Miamisburg, Germantown, Eaton, Oxford, Middleton, Hamilton; Oct. 17—Cincinnati.

Omelet With Mushroom Herb Sauce

[illegible]

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
Wide World Food Editor

Meat rationing will be no bugaboo if you are an alert homemaker.

You will be able to handle the meatless meal problem at any and all times with a minimum of worry if you plan in advance an array of good-tasting, health-building alternates. You can even quicken the family's food interest with surprise dishes that are budget-balancing.

Learn to work wonders with such good American standbys as cheese, eggs, beans, peas, nuts and other meat alternates, in the nutrition-for-victory program. Here are some starters for you.

Creole Scramble is a boon when the family comes home hungry and dinner preparation time is short. Simmer ¼ cup each chopped onions, green peppers and celery in 4 tablespoons fat, heated in frying pan. Add 6 eggs, beat, ¼ cup catsup or chili sauce and ½ cup water. Cook slowly and stir constantly until thick and creamy. Stir in 1¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika and 1 teaspoon minced parsley. Heap onto hot platter and surround with hot, seasoned canned lima or green beans.

Cheese takes over Vegetable Fondue, a baked dish filled with minerals, vitamins and plenty of taste appeal. To serve 4, melt 4 tablespoons butter, add 5 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon each paprika and celery seed. Stir in 1½ cups milk and 2 3 cup thinly sliced or grated cheese. Cook slowly stirring constantly until a creamy sauce forms. Add 3 egg yolks and beat 1 minute. Stir in 1½ cups cooked kidney beans, 1 tablespoon minced onion and 3 beaten whites. Lightly pile in buttered baking dish. Bake 30 minutes in a moderately slow oven. Serve in same dish and pass tomato sauce.

Corn Pudding is a delicious meat alternate when made like this: Mix together 2 cups canned corn, 3 beaten eggs, 4 tablespoons melted butter, 2 3 cup cracker crumbs, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon white pepper, 1 teaspoon minced onions and 1¼ cups milk. Pour into buttered, baking dish and cover with ½ cup buttered crumbs. Bake 45 minutes in moderate oven. Serve in baking dish.

Rice Rings is tops, with mushrooms in it. Mix together 2 cups boiled rice, ½ cup soft bread cubes, 2 3 cup hot milk, 2 eggs (or 4 yolks) 2 3 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon each minced parsley, onions and celery, 2 tablespoons melted butter, and 2 3 cup browned or canned mushrooms. Pour into buttered ring and bake 50 minutes in pan of hot water, in moderate oven. Unmold carefully. Fill and surround with savory cream sauce (about 2 cups) with ½ cup nuts added. This dish combines nutrition with flavor and meal interest.

Cold Dishes Made Hot

By ALICE DENHOFF

If you haven't thought in terms of cold cuts except for cold meat left over from joints or meat loaf, then take a peek at the refrigerator glass counter when next you go to market. You'll find all sorts of ready-to-serve meat loafs, sausages and cooked meats.

One budgeteer who likes to entertain for a crowd buys a whole liver sausage, a loaf of luncheon meat, a length of bologna and serves these with plenty of buttered bread, mustard, catsup, relishes, a bowl of green salad and hot coffee. Guests slice their own and apply their own fixings.

Ham Hurry-Ups

Now for some cold ones made hot. Ham Hurry-Ups deserve a better name, but that's up to you! Take thin slices of boiled ham and American cheese. Roll them carefully into a cornucopia with the cheese slices inside. Secure with a toothpick, broil or bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 10 to 12 minutes until the ham is heated through and the cheese melted inside. Serve with potato salad and individual molds of tomato aspic.

The next recipe is for an open-face sandwich full of nutritional essentials, so vital today. First toast bread on one side. Then spread the untoasted side with mashed liver-sausage. Sprinkle with grated cheese and place under the broiler until cheese melts. Serve at once with a green salad.

For a sandwich made without bread, take two slices of salami about ¼ inch thick and spread with sweet pickle relish. Press together in sandwich form and serve as the main meat dish with cooked string beans in the center of a buttered rice ring.

For a nice hot dish that can be quickly made, saute together corn kernels and cervelat sausage cut in cubes, stirring occasionally to brown evenly on all sides. Serve with broiled tomatoes and hot potato salad. Ready-to-serve tongue in cubes make another good dish. Cream together with pimiento, peas and finely chopped green pepper. Serve in home-made pastry cases.

Prospect St. Methodist Women Hold Meeting

Mrs. Henry Maag, vice president, was in charge of a meeting of the W. S. C. S. of the Prospect Street Methodist church Thursday afternoon in the church parlors. The meeting opened with devotions on the theme, "Our Great Fellowship of Love," in charge of Mrs. Carolyn Shambaugh, and a program hour was in charge of Mrs. Harry Seiter who presented "Christian Leadership in Latin America." Mrs. Helen Shelton entertained with a piano number. The M. O. H. class presented the class with a $25 war bond to be used in the purchase of a new carpet for the church. It was decided to send a box to the Mother's Memorial Center at Cincinnati. A social hour and refreshments were in charge of the hostess committee composed of Mrs. Moses Schrote, Mrs. Sylvester Keyes, Mrs. Rudolph Risch and Miss Minnie Wanner. Officers will be elected at the next meeting.

Dim-Out Planned For Delaware's Second Ward

DELAWARE, O., Oct. 5—A "dim-out" of the entire Second ward at 8:30 Tuesday night has been ordered by Delaware civilian defense officials.

It is planned as a test of the functioning of civilian defense corps members and the civilian population under conditions closely simulating those of an actual blackout.

A SPECIAL DEPARTMENT FOR EMPLOYED WOMEN GRANTING SIGNATURE LOANS IN ONE VISIT TO THE OFFICE WITHOUT CREDIT INQUIRIES OF FRIENDS OR EMPLOYER

Most women prefer to discuss their financial problems with another woman. For that reason, we have just opened our new Employed Women's Financial Department.

Special Women's Department
This new department is for the exclusive use of employed women. You may discuss your money needs with a business woman and she will advise you as to the most efficient solution. This is the ideal means of paying past-due bills and charge accounts, and of obtaining extra money for emergencies and unplanned-for expenses.

Money in One Trip
This department is featuring our new ONE TRIP SIGNATURE LOAN PLAN. Employed women, single or married, may take care of their financial needs without a second trip to this office. It saves time, tires and gasoline or the necessity of riding already over-crowded transportation facilities more than once. It's quick. It's private—as only your signature is required.

How this Plan Works
Just do this: Call this office, ask for the Women's Financial Service Department and say, "I would like to secure a One Trip Signature Loan," answer a few questions and tell us when you will call for the money. We will make all arrangements and be ready to complete the loan when you stop. This may be during your lunch hour or whenever convenient. Payments arranged to fit your budget.

50 MILLION AMERICAN WORKERS

Listen, Adolf, Benito and Hirohito!

I'm only one out of 50 million, but I'm here to tell you that you've got us workers to reckon with, too. This is our fight as much as it is our soldiers', sailors', and marines'. And we aim to win this war.

In any war of machines, you're playing our game. No one can beat us when it comes to doing a quick mass production job on planes, tanks, ships. Not when we set our minds to it.

I head a welding crew, part of America's great shipbuilding program. We're already ahead of schedule, and going faster every day. In twenty years of welding all over the country, I've never seen a gang working as hard or as well. They are inspired to give their last ounce of effort because they know how necessary this is to destroy you and what you represent.

That's why, too, they are willing to save more than they ever did before in order to buy War Bonds. At least 10 percent of their pay every payday goes to smash you once and for all.

Our employer makes it easy for us to buy War Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan, and every man is signed up. Well, why not? No working man—or any other American—would miss this chance to serve his country and to safeguard his home, his family, and his freedom, now and in the years to come. Because we not only help to win the war by buying Bonds, we get $4 for every $3 we invest, when we hold the Bonds ten years.

Every man, woman, and child putting every dollar in Bonds, every effort in work—that's the way we're welding America's strength for victory. And that's the way we'll beat you, Adolf, Benito, and Hirohito!

A Great Week for Marion

THIS WEEK will be recorded as outstanding in Marion's industrial history, for it will be less than two weeks—three days, to be exact—that the city's eight major manufacturing organizations will be under federal government mandate for maximum output in production of war equipment.

Few if any Ohio cities of comparable size have been granted similar recognition within such a short space of time. Today the Marathon "M" Pennant and Victory Fleet Flag go to the Marion Steam Shovel company and on Wednesday the Army-Navy "E" Flag will be presented to the Osgood company.

Notable, indeed, is the distinction of having this double honor conferred on the community. It marks a high spot in Marion's long record of harmony and efficiency in industrial operations. The record is one the community may view with pride and gratification, for it stands as evidence of friendly relationship and intelligent mutual understanding between employers and employes, the surest foundation for the common welfare of all. On this foundation Marion has built progress and stability surpassed by no other Ohio city of like size, and on it Marion will continue to move forward, maintaining its high place among communities where conditions for working and living are of the best.

To the management and employes of the two great industrial concerns recognized this week for distinguished service to the nation go thanks and congratulations from the entire home town citizenry. The awards come as the result of a splendid demonstration of teamwork, the sort of teamwork that wins not only wars against our country's enemies but also wins progress and human happiness in peacetime. It is an expression of loyal and patriotic Americanism and we are glad, more than glad, that it typifies the spirit of Marion.

Ghost That Wasn't Laid

MOST pointed comment being made on the issue at stake in congressional handling of the farm price argument is the current frantic appeal for emergency farm labor to save crops. It speaks much louder than the words of the legislative compromisers who fixed up the situation so it would look good on the record.

Sen. Tydings of Maryland is supposed to have observed sometime during the discussion that the most important result might be awareness of the rapidly developing emergency in farm labor. Many farmers this season struggled along with child labor—and are asking for more to complete their harvests. Some didn't even have children to help them.

They could not go into the labor market and compete against wage levels in manufacturing and trade. On July 1 the average rate for farm labor without board over the country as a whole was $2.25 a day as against $1.98 the year before—but still a pittance compared with the wages almost any able-bodied farm laborer could command by switching to industrial employment. In the face of this hopeless situation, many farmers who formerly depended on help within their own families are losing their sons to military service and either will have to get hired hands or neglect their crops.

Whatever ghosts may have been laid in the compromise measure for stabilizing farm prices and wages, the farm labor ghost remains at large. It is not only a problem of war that hasn't been solved but a problem that so far hasn't even been recognized.

The Orator Becomes the General

THERE are so many things in Hitler's latest speech to mull over that the muller must concentrate on one or two at the expense of all others.

Certainly no one detail invites more attention than the furious fuehrer's apology for being out of practice in the art of oratory.

At the beginning of his political ascendancy Hitler had nothing but oratory. Later, he fortified his ability to mesmerize his countrymen with an organization of willing hoodlums to beat their brains out if they refused to be mesmerized. But his forte was public speaking. Almost singlehanded he convinced the German people, who had been burnt once in the fire of empire building, that they should not dread the blaze he was rekindling.

Then Hitler became by force of circumstances a general. As the whirlwind he had sowed rose in fury he found no time to talk. Nor did he find talking so easy, because he was dealing with something more definite than promises now. The realities of the thing he had started have not made good talking. It is of the greatest significance that the text of his latest speech reveals him boasting of the territory and riches he has gained for Germany, because Germany must be sick at what it has lost—its manhood and its last chance to bear a good name in the family of nations.

News Behind the News

President Gets Around to Biennial Criticism of Columnists and Commentators.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—It never got to me through Mr. Roosevelt's trip the first month he was in office that he made the statement about "columnists and commentators" and the press.

He brought that out one year before election. At least he made it two years ago, just as the new defense plant inspection trip started.

It is a familiar Roosevelt pre-election, annual, easily explained, and probably generally understood by now.

The President always says he favors "straight news," meaning the news, the news he gives out to the press associations, and he would like to have nothing else in the newspapers.

You will never see much criticism of the war effort in this kind of news, except maybe a statement from a Republican now and then, at the tail end of administration announcements.

But the kind of news that gets things done in Washington, that spurs administrators to new efforts and the inefficient ones to correction of their errors, or firing, happens to be that kind that Mr. Roosevelt says he does not like. It is good for his administration and for the prosecution of the war, but he does not like it.

No one expected him to like it. Nobody likes it. But both he and everyone else knows it must be done. He does not propose to abolish it, as far as I have heard.

Probable Purpose

He merely mentioned again, before election, his old idea—and I assume for the same old purpose. If he can create the impression that all criticism of his administration is erroneous, the people will believe only the straight news—what his handout bureaus grind out.

He never has effected this result, for a very good reason.

He and other Washington officials assume criticism comes from newspapers and the radio.

It does not. They are only the vehicles of criticism that exists in the minds and hearts of the people and government officials. The origin of criticism lies in those two sources alone.

The newspapers and radio merely express it, because they know if it becomes public, a demand is thereby created for correction of the situation to which their accusing finger is pointed.

If all the press and radio were abolished this moment, criticism would not cease. The only way Mr. Roosevelt can stop criticism is to make the war effort 100 per cent, as he says. If we would start winning the war, much or all of it would die away.

I think the truth is the President knows he has the press over a barrel, and he likes to paddle it every now and then. With one hand he feeds out official news—sparingly and under censorship now—while with the other, he paddles the press for carrying anything else.

I will bet it gives him endless hours of amusement. All the censored and enatured press can do is protest. That it did, in an official presentation to the White House about the secrecy of the trip.

His protest was filed away by the White House, thereby setting a precedent for the press to use the next time the President's reelection committee tries to support him and hit at a critic as it so frequently has been doing.

It's funny. This is where I came in 20 or 21 years ago.

Production Problems

Plenty of material can be found for Mr. Roosevelt's defense inspection tour.

Two days before it was announced, War Producer Nelson gave out some figures on August production, which he said were "not worth shouting about." He showed the goals fixed by the President were not being met.

Around Nelson's office, everyone knows, for instance, we will not meet the 60,000 plane figure this year, although we may come close. In fact, some WPB men now talk of Mr. Roosevelt's goal as a "dream program."

Limitations on labor and raw materials are hindering its fulfillment. Redistribution of both will help.

Just now the army and navy are getting the first Four A priorities (the first four categories of demand on materials) for a six-months period which will end next February.

They cannot get much more but they can shift raw materials into implements they must have first and decide what they can wait for until later. This is the new phase into which the production effort is heading.

Other Reasons

There may have been other reasons for the trip. Friends of the President explain that he goes stale on the job whenever he must stick to the White House for long, and that it pops him up to get out on trips around the country.

Also, he gained something of a personal advantage in getting out of town during the farm bloc fight over inflation, preventing bloc members from getting near him with various alternative proposals.

Mr. Roosevelt denies the trip was political in any phase, and points out he saw only the elected officials, not the candidates. I think, however, the trip had certain definite political advantages.

Some of you may recall that in this column published Sept. 19, it was reported the administration politicos were alarmed at the lightness of the primary vote, particularly at the failure of war workers to go to the polls, and that Mr. Nelson had issued an invitation to such workers to take time from their jobs to cast ballots.

This is the class of workers with which the President came into direct contact on his trip. It is the class which the administration expects to contribute votes in large quantities, in view of the salaries being paid.

Mr. Roosevelt's personal appearance before them a month before election may help that administration political purpose.

Wishful U. S. Thoughts

THE American people have a great capacity for kidding themselves. One of the things they are trying to cover up with bluff now is the progress of the war. In a recent advertisement, these wishful thoughts and self-descriptions, with rebuttals, appeared:

This country has never been beaten in all its 166 years. But Japan has never been beaten in its 2,000 years.

They can't get at us, 3,000 miles away. But they've got at Burma, 3,600 miles away.

We're pouring production out of our factories. But Germany has been pouring it out for 10 years faster per man than we have poured it so far.

Our allies will hold until we are ready. But what about Singapore, Burma, the Philippines and Pearl Harbor?

Anyway what can one man do? The government is handling the war. But the government is 130,000,000 Americans. You, an individual, will win the war or lose it. If you lose it, your family will pay in agony and starvation. "And this war," it is stated in conclusion, "is nearer to being lost than you think. That isn't pessimism—it's only looking the facts in the face. By work you can save it. But—there isn't much time to get busy."

This Week in the Sky

THIS WEEK the moon reaches the new phase on Friday, the 9th. By the "new moon" the astronomer means the dark of the moon, when our satellite is between the earth and the sun, with the dark side turned towards us. The layman often confuses the expression "new moon" with the crescent moon. By the 11th, Sunday, it may be just possible to see the young crescent in the western evening sky after sunset, not far above the horizon, but it will be a very thin crescent.

Have you ever seen "earthshine" on the moon? The crescent is visible to you because a tiny section of the sun-lighted half of the moon is turned towards the earth. At such times it is often possible to see the dark part of the moon shining much more faintly, by sunlight reflected from the surface of the earth to the dark part of the moon. This is also often called "the old moon in the new moon's arms."

There are no evening stars at the present time. Jupiter is brilliant in the morning sky, rising about midnight and near the meridian at sunrise. Saturn comes up two hours after sunset and can be seen therefore during most of the night.

Speaking of Snakes

By The Associated Press

PIERRE, S. D.—Want to give a rattlesnake the jitters? Jump up and down on the ground near him. It scares him half to death. A. M. Jackley, South Dakota snake exterminator, reported that a hay crew found two rattlesnakes in a windrow, killed them, and on returning for the next load found more snakes. The more snakes they killed, the more appeared. Jackley said the vibrations of the truck drove the snakes from mouse and gopher burrows. The men tallied up 77 snakes from the five acres.

GENERAL CONFUSION IN COMMAND!

War Conduct Seen as Campaign Test

Nation Prepares for First Election Since U. S. Was Attacked.

In five more weeks the quietest election campaign within memory will be over. Politicians are apprehensive about the possibility of consequences that might be as irregular as the campaign itself. In this summary, prepared by a Wide World correspondent in Washington, the capital's viewpoint is described.

• • •

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

MAJOR party leaders see management of the war as the prime issue in the first national elections since the United States was attacked.

Outcome of the contest for control of the house of representatives and the race for the governorship of New York are the things that will be watched most closely.

A light vote is expected. The primaries showed that people were so preoccupied that slightly more than 35 per cent of the eligibles actually voted.

Voters will choose 33 senators, 432 representatives and 32 governors. Maine elected a senator, a governor and three representatives—all Republicans—on Sept. 14. Democrats now hold a big majority in the senate and also 28 of the 48 governors chairs.

Republican spokesmen say "bungling" of the war's prosecution in Washington will be stressed by their candidates. Democrats contend the people are satisfied with the way the war is going, although conceding mistakes have been made.

Republicans cannot hope to win the senate, even though Democrats will have 24 seats on the election block as against only eight for Republicans and one now held by an independent. Too many seats to be filled are now in the Democratic south. The present senate is composed of 65 Democrats, 29 Republicans, one independent, and one progressive.

Of the 32 governors' seats at stake 18 are now held by Democrats, 14 by Republicans. The latter could win a majority by taking five seats from the Democrats and holding their own in the others. Main has already gone Republican.

The house contests will be most interesting. Republicans need to capture 50-odd seats from Democrats while keeping their present strength to win control. Leaders say they have a fighting chance to do this, but are confining public claims now to "substantial gains." Democrats say they will keep a "sizeable majority."

Present lineup in the house is 256 Democrats and 165 Republicans. The remainder stands divided among minority parties and vacancies. A total of 218 is a clear majority.

WITH Democrats in power, Republicans captured control of the house in the 1918 off-year elections. President Wilson's appeal for reelection of a Democratic congress to uphold its war measures boomeranged because it was tantamount to saying Republicans were not behind the war effort.

Apparently to avoid any such occurrence this year, President Roosevelt has called for election of senators and representatives, regardless of party, who would support, and who had a record before Pearl Harbor of supporting the administration's foreign policies.

Republican statements, too, have urged the election of an "Independent" rather than a "Republican" congress as a check against ill-advised war measures. Pre-war voting records — isolationists versus interventionists—apparently were ignored in most primary contests where this was an issue.

For views on both sides, Wide World asked the two men in charge of the congressional campaigns—Rep. Patrick H. Drewry of Virginia and Rept. J. William Ditter of Pennsylvania, chairmen, respectively of the Democratic and Republican congressional campaign committees, to make comments.

Rep. Drewry said: "The issue if any one is most prominent, is the successful prosecution of the war effort. I believe the people are in accord with the efforts of the Democratic administration to do everything that can be done in meeting the problems of war so suddenly presented to the country.

"It is realized that mistakes have been made, and will be made, but the common sense of the American people leads them to the conclusion that under the conditions confronting us, no one could have done any better, and maybe not so well.

"Of course, an issue growing out of the conduct of the war may arise with references to our unpreparedness when the war began. There is some justifiable criticism that the minority party did not join with the attempt of the administration to prepare for any eventuality that might arise in the light of disturbed world conditions.

"The blame for unpreparedness can not be laid to the Demo-

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, Oct. 5, 1932. President Hoover, on his return to Washington from Des Moines, made a brief train platform appearance at Bucyrus. Approximately 30 Marion residents, including Congressman Grant E. Mouser Jr., went to Crestline to await the next scheduled stop of the presidential train.

Eight bandits wrecked the safe of the Galena Banking Co. at Galena, near Delaware, and escaped with about $300 in gold after cutting all telephone and telegraph wires leading to the town. They abandoned near the town about $8,200 in currency which was found by two men enroute to work.

Approximately $81,000 for a new federal building in Upper Sandusky was provided by an emergency building fund to aid unemployment, it was announced by Congressman Grant E. Mouser Jr.

Mrs. Jenny Uncapher, 76, mother of Service Director E. O. Uncapher, died of a heart attack in her home at 597 Irey avenue.

Mrs. Sarah Anna Miller of north of Marion died in the Frederick C. Smith clinic. She was the widow of Henry C. Miller, general foreman of the Hocking Valley roundhouse for 45 years.

One hundred and fifty members of Salem Evangelical church attended a reception honoring the new pastor, Rev. H. C. Ahrens, and Mrs. Ahrens.

Marion was making final preparations to entertain the eighth annual convention of the Ohio state Grotto association, which was to open Thursday.

The Wee Bridge club opened its season with a luncheon at the Marion City club. Mrs. George Day Sr. and Mrs. H. M. Wheeler were enrolled.

It was Thursday, Oct. 5, 1922.

The Yanks and Giants battled 10 innings to a tie in the second game of the world series at the Polo grounds in New York. The score was 3 to 3 when the umpire called the game at the end of the tenth inning on account of darkness.

The seventeenth annual convention of the Marion county W.C.T.U. opened at Wesley M. E. church. It was to close Friday with an address by Mrs. Florence Richards of Columbus, state president, on "What Can Women Do to Help Defeat the Beer and Light Wine Amendment?"

A delegation of 31 members of the Manufacturers and Wholesale Merchants board of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce were guests of the Kiwanis club luncheon. Fire Chief T. J. McFarland was speaker.

A news report from Mt. This Particular One Doesn't My Suggestion That All Women Should Have War Jobs.

I HAVE a letter from a lady reader in which she is publishing in its entirety, knowing the problems of a typical family in the new riffle-scruffle of a big war production center. It is a town on the west coast where defense workers predominate.

The letter should be especially interesting to those in spots not yet touched to the extent by the production uproar, for perhaps some of the vexations mentioned by correspondent have hit them, too.

I must add that even in presenting this side I am not backing up in the controversy-prudent is replying to, except in the "everyone." Maybe it should be. Anyway, here is the letter:

"IN A RECENT article you open with the words, 'Every able-bodied woman in the United States should now be preparing herself for some phase of war effort,' without any modification.

"Frankly, I am more than exasperated the way you and many, many others overlook the fact that someone has to feed and care for the homes of all the war workers. I mean, you, like so big a majority of you think that houses take care of themselves, clean themselves and marketing is a matter of minutes.

"The truth is that never before in wartime, did the care of a house take so much time, as so many of the business people in all directions, but the housewife. She has not one problem, but many, to solve. For example, the laundries have too much business to give proper service and thus we never know for sure how or when our laundry will be returned. The milk men change and curtail their routes so we find our milk in the mid-day sun; and the groceries do not deliver.

"Yet we are urged not to use our cars. I can assure you oranges, potatoes, etc., are anything but light. The same applies to the request of the downtown merchants that we carry our purchases home. It is impossible to get help, thus cleaning and cooking also fall on the wife (the average hours do not give husbands much time or strength to help).

"NOW MAY I ask you, where there is left to do any great amount of war work and which is more important: to make a home so the defense workers may have a peaceful, restful place in which to relax, or to put on regular work and have a topsy-turvy house and sadly neglected children? Already there are many reports of the ill effects suffered by children. Naturally much of what I have written above applies particularly to older men, but thousands and thousands of women must take the places of the men in service. It is only with the help of their wives at the home and often in what had been their business, that they do not break down. This would, of course, mean more work for the physicians—another 'don't.'

"All this does not mean in the least that we are not just as vitally interested in the conflict as anyone. Many of us, who are out of contact with the devastated lands we love for them, are keenly hurt to know of the destruction, and want, urgently, to do everything possible to help.

"But we also have enough common sense to know our limitations, physically. True, the unmodified statements of 'all women' and the 'able-bodied' (for we are that) annoy me.

"I ALSO think the idea of registering women up to 65 is an extravagance. Most of the classifier's time. Up to 50 or 55 it may be worthwhile, but above that the majority would not be able to give enough time to justify the enormous work involved in the registration.

"Hoping this may give you and many others a fairer idea of the responsibilities and duties of the housewife, and a clearer conception of what is common sense and reasonable along these lines."

Prison Blooms at Inmate's Touch

Wide World Features

FORT MADISON, Ia.—There's a little bit of heaven inside the stone, gray prison walls of the Iowa state penitentiary here.

It's a garden of beautiful flowers planted by a man who has spent 34 years of his life behind bars.

Fellow convicts were skeptical when Frank Martin started his gardening hobby last spring. They said it couldn't be done. But "Red" went ahead anyway.

Today, where not even grass would grow before, a bed of vari-colored flowers lies in the shadow of the administration building. They bring him daily compliments from prisoners and visitors alike.

There are marigolds, zinnias, dahlias, verbena, four-o-clocks, petunias, moss roses and morning glories twining around neat little trellises.

"Red" even dropped a few red pepper seeds among the ornamental flowers—all of which stretch upward from a green sod blanket of grass.

The garden has been like a shot of vitamins to its caretaker. "Red" has been in and out of prison on—mostly in—since he was 16. Fellow convicts remember when he was sullen and spent considerable time in the sick ward. Now, they say, he never felt better, and points with pride to the six inches he took off his waist line.

"Red" studied a book on flowers before he began his hobby. Now, as he watches them bloom, he sometimes murmurs:

"I wish I had learned about growing flowers a long time ago. Things might have been different."

By the President of the United States of America
A Proclamation

Any loss of human life, any interference with production, any loss of essential materials hinders and impedes our war efforts.

Uncontrolled fire, even in normal times, is a national menace. It kills or disables thousands of our people and destroys a significant portion of our national wealth each year. Today, when every resource is being taxed to its fullest productive capacity, when our people are working with unparalleled zeal, and when agents of our enemies are seeking to hinder us by every possible means, it is essential that destructive fire be brought under strictest control in order that victory may be achieved at the earliest date.

Nothing less than the united vigilance and effort of all the people will suffice to break the grip of this menace. Fire hazards everywhere must be detected at once and eliminated. Loss of life and property from blaze and embers must be reduced in every State of the Union. Prevention of all unnecessary fires must be our goal.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the week beginning October 4, 1942, as Fire Prevention Week; and I earnestly request the people of the country to give special heed to the importance of taking active measures during that week, and throughout the year, to conserve our human and material resources from the destructive toll of fire; and I direct the Office of Civilian Defense and other appropriate Federal agencies to initiate programs for emphasizing the importance of attaining these objectives. I also desire to enlist the cooperation of State and local governments, of educators and civic groups, and of the press, the radio, and the motion-picture industry, with a view to promoting widespread realization of the dangers of fire and knowledge of the methods of controlling it.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 5th day of August in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-two, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-seventh.

INCENDIARY BOMBS MAY STRIKE HERE

They will do the least damage when there are the least number of inflammable things. Clean out attic, basement, garage, now. Don't wait. The enemy may not.

FIRE is WASTE
... Waste Is TREASON

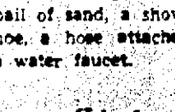
The kind of "accidents" that cause fire—need not, must not happen—especially now that we are at war and every kind of waste sabotages the work that must be done to win! Fire brings in its wake loss of life, or at least injuries that can keep people from war production. Fire means loss of property which must be reconstructed; yet there are no supplies to spare, for building for civilian use. Fire must take our volunteer firemen from essential war work, interrupting their productivity until the fire's out. Every one of us must feel it a personal responsibility now to prevent fires—both by "accident," and by incendiary bombs which may be visited upon us. Follow the simple instructions outlined above and to the left. Equip your home for fire prevention and you not only protect your own welfare and interest—you make another contribution toward Victory . . . just as every time you buy a War Bond [illegible] up Victory!

Every floor of your home should be equipped with simple needs for putting out incendiary bombs. A pail of sand, a shovel, a hoe, a hose attached to a water faucet.



After you have taken first-aid measures if you feel you can't control a fire, don't delay putting in a fire alarm at your street corner or by telephone [illegible]. Be alert. Be a fire fighter!

Wood-Arndt Rites Read Sunday in Methodist Church

THE marriage of Mrs. Myrtle Rose Arndt of 273 Glover avenue and Andrew C. Arndt of 433 Ann Parkers and street was solemnized yesterday morning in the Prospect Street Methodist church, by the pastor, Rev. Henry Slade.

For her wedding Miss Wood chose a turquoise blue[illegible] velveteen suit with which she wore [illegible] corsage of [illegible] in a wristlet shade. Her corsage was fashioned of [illegible] roses and completing her costume was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. Mrs. Clifford Bartlett was the matron of honor and the bride's only attendant. Her two-piece vintage velveteen suit was accented with Australian green accessories and she wore a corsage of Johanna Hill roses. Mr. Bartlett served as best man for Mr. Arndt.

Preceding the double ring ceremony read at 7:30 o'clock, Miss Mary Ellen Kerr played a program of nuptial music including "To a Wild Rose" by MacDowell, "Barcarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman," "An Open Mystery of Love" by Herbert, "One Night of Love" by Schertzinger, and "On Promise Me" by deKoven. During the ceremony she played "I Love You Truly," by Bond and for the processional and recessional the traditional wedding marches. Palms banked the altar and formed a background for the baskets of white gladioli.

Following the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast at the Manor House for the wedding party and immediate family. The table held a three-tiered wedding cake. Later Mr. and Mrs. Arndt left on a short wedding trip. Upon their return they will live at 433 West Fairground street.

Shower Given For Miss Joanna Boyd, October 17 Bride

MRS. HAROLD DAVIS was hostess for a linen shower given Saturday afternoon at Ringer's Inn for Miss Joanna Boyd, fiancee of Lt. Carl A. Sheene of Camp Barkeley, Texas. Miss Boyd and Lt. Sheehe will be married Oct. 17 in the post chapel at Camp Barkeley.

Little Rosemary Ridgeway and Donald Lauback, dressed as bride and groom, descended the stairway as Mrs. Jay Thuma played the wedding march and escorted the bride-elect to the dining room where she found her gifts hidden beneath a huge wedding bell decorated in Miss Boyd's colors of pink and violet.

Rosemary wore a white satin wedding gown with a long veil caught at the top with pink and purple flowers and she carried a tiny bride's bouquet of the same flowers. Donald was dressed in white trousers, shoes, shirt and tie with a black coat with tails.

The guest of honor was given an index recipe book and each guest contributed one of her favorite recipes. The group made a scrapbook of Miss Boyd's life.

Lunch was served at small tables decorated with small purple cellophane flower pots containing pink rose buds and bud vases with pink snapdragons and wild asters of purple. The dining room table was centered with a large bowl of the same flowers. Miss Boyd's place was marked with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Guests included Miss Boyd, Mrs. D. D. Clifton, Mrs. C. C. Holliday, Mrs. C. C. Ridgeway, Mrs. Thuma, Mrs. G. C. Wall, Mrs. F. L. Topliff, Mrs. M. C. Clements, Mrs. D. B. Jones, Mrs. Clara Davis, Mrs. Zoa Davis, Miss Willa Ruth Davis of LaRue, Mrs. J. J. Fraber of Mt. Victory, Mrs. W. C. Boyd and Mrs. Harold Davis.

C. M. Sheehe of 501 Olney avenue, father of Lt. Sheehe, entertained with a dinner Saturday evening for the pleasure of Miss Boyd. Decorations were in Miss Boyd's wedding colors of pink and purple.

Miss Cooper And Air Cadet Mitton Wed in Kentucky

MR. AND MRS. ERNEST L. COOPER of 120 East Columbia street announced the marriage of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Aviation Cadet Merlin Eugene Mitton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Mitton of 200 Barnhart street, at a tea given Sunday afternoon at their home.

The single ring ceremony was read May 14 at Newport, Ky. by Rev. John W. Wallace.

The favors, which were tiny white leather booklets tied with yellow and green ribbons, contained miniature marriage certificates disclosing the date of the marriage. About 50 guests were received between 3 and 6 o'clock.

The rooms were decorated with white gladioli and yellow baby chrysanthemums and in the dining room the table was centered with a large wedding cake topped by a bride and bridegroom. On either side of the cake were three branched crystal candelabra holding tapers of yellow and green.

Mrs. Mitton wore a corsage of orchids sent to her by Cadet Mitton from Santa Ana, Calif. where he is stationed. Mrs. Grover Mitton and Mrs. Cooper wore corsages of white gardenias.

Presiding at the table during the afternoon were Mrs. John Gruber and Misses Helen Mezger, Jeanne Alspach, Eileen Mitton, Ardyth Mitton, Donna Williams, Betty Bacon and Sibyl Coppedge.

Mrs. Mitton, a graduate of Harding High school in 1939, is employed in the traffic department at the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. She will leave soon for an extended visit with her husband.

Cadet Mitton was employed at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. before his induction into the army.

Mrs. Damon Wetterauer, Miss Coppedge and Miss Georgann Waddell of Columbus were out of town guests.

Farewell Party Given Man Leaving for Army

Mr. and Mrs. Gale Ireland of Uncapher avenue entertained Thursday evening in honor of the latter's brother, Robert E. Holliday, who are to leave today for Fort Hayes, Columbus, and after go to Camp Maxie, Tex. Prior to enlisting for service Mr. Holliday was employed at the Scioto Ordnance Plant.

The table was decorated in red, white and blue streamers showered from the chandelier and held a large decorated cake upon which was inscribed "Camp Maxie." The patriotic theme was carried out in the ice cream molded in the form of jeeps bearing the name of the camp.

Contests and games provided entertainment. Mr. Holliday received a number of remembrances. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Homer Holliday and Mrs. Tryon Holliday.

Guests included Mr. Holliday, Mr. and Mrs. William Steer, Mr. and Mrs. John Kent, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Holliday and Mr. and Mrs. Tryon Holliday.

Halloween Dance for Soldiers Given by Sorority Group

HALLOWEEN was the theme of decorations at a dance given Friday evening in the Y. M. C. A. by Alpha chapter of Gradale sorority for the Second Battalion, 333rd Engineers Regiment, camped near Marion.

Music was furnished by Dick Zahn and his orchestra and Mrs. B. E. Swope and her daughter, Jean, entertained with accordion and tap dancing numbers. Corp. Wheeler sang a solo and Mrs. Albert Thomas gave a reading.

As the guests arrived they were given name cards and numbered masks. They found their partners for the evening by finding the person whose mask had the same number as their own. There were several novelty dances.

Lunch was served at tables decorated with fall flowers and tapers in the sorority's colors of gold and purple.

The committee in charge included Miss Catherine Watson, chairman, Mrs. Richard Thiabaut, Miss Winifred Ballenger, Mrs. Walter Corrigan and Mrs. Gerald Smart.

Molded Chocolate Rice Mixture

½ c. uncooked rice, 1½ c. white corn syrup, ½ c. 4 tbsps. sugar, 1 tsp. salt, 2 tbsp. orange juice, ½ tsp. grated orange rind.

Wash and steam rice over 20 minutes or until soft. Add milk, corn syrup, salt and sugar to top part of double boiler. Add rice to milk mixture and continue cooking 10 minutes. Cool and add vanilla, orange juice and rind.

Chocolate Mixture

2 sqs. unsweetened chocolate, 1 tbsp. sugar, 2 tbsps. corn syrup, 2 tbsps. water.

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler, add remaining sugar and stir until well blended. Cook 5 minutes. Cool.

6 individual molds with cold water and place a spoonful of chocolate mixture in the mold. Add a spoonful of rice mixture, repeat, alternating mixtures until mold is filled. Serves 6.

Foods That Are Pleasing To Eye

By ALICE DENHOFF

Foods should have eye appeal as well as taste appeal. Be a master colorist when you cook and create a meal, a sauce or a salad, borrowing colors from Nature's own palette. Lavender is achieved by stewing Concord grapes, catching the juice and folding whipped cream with it.

Juice from cooked beets is added to mayonnaise to lend new charm to salads. Beet juice is good for pickles too and there's no vegetable taste. Richly red tomatoes tint jellied fish and meat molds. For a really good relish just try tomato cheese biscuits. Split open they are rosy-red inside with wonderful tomato-cheese taste.

Tomato-Cheese Biscuits

Sift together 2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons all-phosphate type baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt. Cut in 4 tablespoons shortening and ½ cup grated cheese with two knives until the consistency of coarse cornmeal. Stir in ¾ cup tomato juice to make a soft dough. Turn out on slightly floured board, knead for ½ minute, roll lightly to ½ inch thickness. Cut in 2-inch rounds and bake on ungreased baking sheet in 450 F. oven 12 to 15 minutes. This makes 14 to 16 biscuits.

Waffle Suggestions

Waffles offer another treat for this time of year. Waffles with plenty of butter and syrup rumbling over is a dish pretty hard to beat, and one that spells "home" to American men now in service all over the world. When that boy comes home on furlough serve him waffles split in two with creamed fresh mushrooms and peas poured over them. And make him a waffle shortcake with berries or peaches between, served hot or cold.

Another food frivolity that is bound to please, try the Florida idea of a good dessert when is after-dinner mints dissolved in a heap of canned grapefruit sections and well chilled.

For a while Julie forgot the strange tangle of events in the glory of the summer morning. Cool, fragrant air brought a glow to her cheeks and sunlight slanting through the spire-like trees touched all the forest greens into light and shadow. And although Pete ignored her completely as he tramped ahead, puffing on his pipe, stopping only occasionally to rest, she was content—for the first time in years.

The trail was unusually well-marked for this early in the season, she thought once as she followed Pete along the narrow path that skirted the canyon where a stream rushed noisily. Almost like an echo, Pete said.

"This trail's been used a lot lately, looks like," and stopped a moment to re-light his pipe. "Funny, too. Season's only been open a couple of weeks. Besides, this is private property."

Separated

Julie's fears roused themselves, milled ominously. "Maybe the caretaker comes through this way."

Pete shook his head. "Don't think there is one. Kelland said the last three he'd hired left him for the shipyards. More likely the forest ranger. There's a look-out station back up on the mountain."

A moment later, Pete stopped again. "That's a funny thing to do," and pointed to a deep gash freshly cut in a tall pine.

"And here's another!" Julie called to him not a hundred yards further along the trail.

In all, they found eleven trees so marked—a deep gash in the trunk. Always a large tree, usually about twenty-five yards apart.

"If they weren't so regular, I'd think these trees had been marked to take out," Pete puzzled, scowling. "But these trees aren't old or rotten."

"They are all perfect and very tall," Julie tipped her head back to look up at the lofty branches pushing skyward.

"Probably Kelland's got some scheme for using them." Pete dismissed it finally and led the way down a steep bank to the stream's edge.

Julie scrambled after him, remembering with a rush of nostalgia, how often she'd "tagged" Pete and her brothers to just such fishing spots. Not always had she been too welcome, either, she smiled now. Nor was she sure that Pete was overjoyed to have her along this morning. Still, just seeing him striding along with his old quick step gave her enough to be thankful for.

Julie, trained to independence by two older brothers, baited her own hook, found her own way up and down the stream bank, left Pete free to lash the pools uninterrupted. She'd slipped four beautiful rainbow trout into her creel before she realized that she'd worked her way upstream too far to risk being stranded on some rocky perch. She crossed the stream on a precarious bridge of smooth rocks, started down the other side, fishing each pool as she went. She hadn't seen Pete for an hour.

She added two more trout to her catch before she took heed of the alarm ringing in a bell in the back of her mind. She'd come down-stream far enough to have caught up with Pete by now. Surely. She glanced around. There seemed to be no sign of a trail on the bank above. It rose precipitously, a tangle of thick underbrush. She must have taken a wrong fork somewhere.

Carefully she made her way back upstream again. This was certainly stupid, she told herself, holding a tight rein on the panicky feeling of being lost. She couldn't be far away from Pete.

Lost

And here was where the other stream branch joined the main channel. Funny she hadn't noticed it before. Wearily, and faster now, she scrambled along the boulder-strewn banks. Still no familiar, broad-shouldered figure in sight. Finally she whistled. Two fingers between her teeth she shrilled two short and one long blasts, the old Hamilton signal for help. In earlier days that whistle would have brought either Tommy Junior or Joe on the run to help her into or out of any fight.

This time it brought no answer. She forced herself to sit down then, rest quietly until her pulses stopped pounding, her panic was under control. Then, with surface calm at least, she started up the stream again.

As if to reward her cool courage, her next whistle brought an answer. Around a curve, yards upstream, a tall man appeared at the stream's edge, stood watching her.

Overjoyed, and a little teary-eyed with relief, Julie waved, shouted.

"Wait for me."

He disappeared again. A moment later she saw the top of his hat through the trees. Coming down the trail toward her. Hoisting her creel and always careful of the slim trout pole, she crossed the stream again, trudged along, her knees quivering with fatigue, her whole body still aware of the fright she'd had. People had been known to wander in these mountains for days before they were found.

She whistled again when she heard him crashing along through the brush. But he didn't answer. It wasn't until later that she remembered thinking that peculiar. Pete had been in on the Hamilton whistle code always. Three short blasts meant "Take cover." One long and one short meant "All clear." Lots of times that system had stood them in good—

She reached for a dangling rope of vines, pulled herself up over a smooth-faced rock onto the trail above. As she scrambled to her feet, someone came around a curve in the pathway. A tall someone in muddy riding boots, breeches, a tweed coat. Dark swarthy face—heavy black brows—thin lips parted in a smile. As if hypnotized, Julie stared at that smile, felt fear fold around her like a cloak. This was the man in the green car.

cratic administration, for the minority, as the record shows, did not wholeheartedly join in the proposed preparations for prospective troubles. That, however, was due to a difference of opinion and the result indicates that it was bad judgment on the part of the minority, if nothing more.

"My conclusion is that the Democratic party will continue its handling of the country's affairs, until its efforts meet with complete success."

REP. DITTER used the Maine results as a springboard for his statement:

"Maine has already spoken. On Sept. 14 that state reaffirmed its faith in the Republican cause and emphasized its dislike of New Deal mismanagement of national affairs in peace and war. It elected the entire Republican ticket by percentages too significant to be mistaken.

"In all of the other states, except Rhode Island, nominating primaries and conventions have now been held and tickets are in the field. Results indicate clearly that the innate common sense which has characterized the American people has not been thrown out of balance by demagoguery and hysteria.

"Those who in the name of unity have raised issues making for disunity have been repudiated. The efforts of the purgers in high places and low stand discredited.

"Special congressional elections since 1940 in which Republicans have won four seats. Democrats none; polls of representative opinion, comments of experienced political observers in the press, wails of the organs of the purgers, all confirm with cumulative force reports and surveys coming into our national headquarters that the trend is our way and anti-New Deal.

"These barometers of public opinion indicate that the American people are aware of the danger of a rubber stamp congress in this crisis, that through their representatives in congress they are ready and willing to grant to duly constituted authorities every power necessary to win the war, that our people want total victory at any cost, but that in the face of present conditions they are in no mood to surrender the power and the means to demand an accounting."

NEW YORK'S Democratic gubernatorial nomination battle stimulated an otherwise apathetic primary campaign because of its possible effect on the 1944 presidential race.

A three-way battle for the Empire State governorship was assured when Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr. was picked by the Democrats; Thomas E. Dewey by the Republicans, and Dean Alfange by the American Labor party.

Bennett's nomination climaxed a fight that split the Democrats. President Roosevelt, retiring Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, Sen. Wagner and others wanted Sen. James M. Mead, while State Chairman James A. Farley backed Bennett.

Regardless of the outcome on Nov. 3, Farley appears to have tightened his grip on the New York state party organization and possibly on the powerful delegation that will help nominate a presidential candidate two years hence. Friends of Farley, who broke with the President first on the third term issue, have reported him eager to reach a rapprochement in the interest of party harmony.

Democracy's heavy artillery... firing harder than ever

IN every newspaper plant in the country, the presses are rolling at top speed . . . firing projectiles as vital to our victory as bullets or bombs.

We have always been a news-hungry people, but crisis whets our appetite. In this greatest crisis of all, we are hungrier than ever, not only for the news itself, but also for guidance and instruction on the countless vital problems that face a free people at war.

It's a hunger that only newspapers can satisfy.

Years before World War II, the nation's newspapers were already retooling to meet this greater demand. Foreign services were strengthened . . . overseas communications reinforced . . . picture services refined and expanded. Increasingly, as war came closer and finally struck, newspapers were giving us not only the news but also . . . through words and maps and pictures . . . a better understanding of each day's events.

This clearer understanding of what the war means, and why we must win it, is the foundation of a democracy's strength in battle. Through it we are learning how to sacrifice, how to conserve, how each of us in our own way can contribute to victory. Being thus well-informed, we are much farther along the road.

Other ways of learning things we have in profusion. But nearly all of us turn to newspapers every day as our basic source of information. Through them . . . through the ads as well as the news columns . . . we are adding every day to the knowledge we must have to do our part in the war.

Mackenzie Finds Eisenhower Right Man To Lead Troops

World Wide Analyst Talks with U. E. European Commander and Finds Him in Fine Fettle.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

LONDON—[illegible] a new [illegible] Americans officers across the [illegible] I might to [illegible] a personality [illegible] impressive as to require an [illegible] for [illegible] with [illegible] Dwight [illegible] Eisenhower. But [illegible] my own impression [illegible] future to [illegible] that [illegible] commander [illegible] of [illegible] dominant [illegible] you get when [illegible] fine fettle.

It is also [illegible] to say [illegible] active where [illegible] headquarters. [illegible] stated that [illegible] in London, [illegible] and to [illegible] the largest [illegible] party [illegible] leaves plenty [illegible] for speculation as to [illegible] private habits of operation.

One of the world's busiest men, handling one of the world's big [illegible]

First Impression Good

I made it my business to get [illegible] and [illegible] a quiet comfortable [illegible] of [illegible] Eisenhower [illegible] front and [illegible] the eye of Hitler's [illegible] strong, capable [illegible]

Dwight "Ike" as the troops call [illegible] has a [illegible] personality. [illegible] impression of him is [illegible] a great asset and is [illegible] to [illegible] an enemy.

But, having [illegible] the way he looks you straight in the eye, having experienced the quickness and vigor of his mind, having heard of his good works from close observers, I'm prepared to stick to my first impression.

That's the way the men feel about him, too, and it isn't likely any general could hypnotize a whole army unless he had the goods. You can add that Britain authorities not only like him but hold him in high esteem as a soldier.

So, having had this glimpse of the general we no longer is surprised to see him commander-in-chief in Europe at the comparatively young age of 51. And there's no longer any wonder at the way he zoomed up from the rank of colonel to Lieutenant-General in less than two years. Don't forget he was chief of staff to General MacArthur in the Philippines and had much to do with planning defenses which gave the Japanese so much trouble.

Once Was Cowboy

The general is a big fellow, but he moves with the ease that comes from well-trained, supple muscles. In his youthful days, he was a cowboy in his home country around Abilene, Kan., before he went to West Point. His daily workout with a medicine ball keeps him toned up.

I should say that diplomacy is one of the general's inherent characteristics, but he doesn't beat about the bush.

All this gives the impression of honesty of thought. You feel he isn't trying to lead you up an alley.

In this respect Eisenhower is much like our commander-in-chief in the first World war, General Eisenhower, as I found him on the battlefront, was a straight talker who knew what he wanted to say and said it.

Eisenhower has a very tidy reputation as a disciplinarian. Wes Gallagher, correspondent for Wide World and The Associated Press, recently reported the general's code for his men as follows:

"We should not make the mistake that morale can be produced by pampering and by lowering of standards to permit greater use of living."

He's Making Soldiers

That creed is being applied to our boys in the British Isles. They understand fully they're going up against the most powerful fighting machine ever created—or at least it was the most powerful before it hurled itself against the amazing Russians.

Our troops have been made to realize they must make themselves expert in the tricks of killing and of self-defense. Thus we find them training like gladiators five days a week without thought of hardships. Then they are allowed to relax for two days to prevent over-training and going stale mentally and physically.

Thus Eisenhower's personality and character are being felt from headquarters right down through the rank and file.

Byrnes in Quick Move To Check Living Cost Rise

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—James F. Byrnes moved into a White House office to take over direction of the nation's economic stability today after a week-end series of rapid fire moves designed to halt rises in two major cost-of-living items — food and rent.

Following up Saturday's order extending price ceilings to 90 per cent of all food products, Price Administrator Leon Henderson, who will help administer the general policies formulated by Byrnes and his economic stabilization board, last night ordered all rents rolled back to their March 1 levels.

The food price freeze, a 60-day emergency order to be followed soon by permanent ceiling for the duration, is effective today. It enjoins all retailers, wholesalers, manufacturers and processors to charge no more than the highest price they charged between Sept. 28 and Oct. 2.

Foods Excepted

Only important foodstuffs expected were fresh fish, most fresh fruits and vegetables, and peanuts, which probably will be treated with later on a seasonal basis.

Henderson said the rent stabilization order, covering an estimated 80,000,000 householders living outside the 305 defense rental areas already designated, would mean that "the cost of housing to American families—the most important single item in their budget—will be kept stable throughout the war."

He said existing regulations would be changed to prevent eviction of tenants through the sale of property, except in cases of legitimate real estate transactions or where hardship would result if the property-owner could not regain possession.

Henderson noted what he called "a growing practice of owners forcing tenants to purchase the premises in many cases at exorbitant prices."

Byrnes, 63-year-old South Carolinian who stepped down from the supreme court bench, to which he was appointed from the senate only last year, to take what President Roosevelt describes as "one of the most important positions in the country," grasped the economic helm with a minimum of comment.

It will be his task, under broad directive powers from the President, to dictate general policies governing wages and salaries as well as prices, rents and other factors affecting the daily lives of every civilian.

The wage, salary and farm price levels prevailing on Sept. 15 last will be taken as the stabilization point.

To complete the top set up, the President was expected soon to appoint two representatives each of labor, management and farmers to serve with Byrnes and his department-head colleagues on the stabilization board.

Meeker Collection Climbs to 12 1-2 Tons

Boys with trucks and tractor-drawn wagons started out in the Meeker school district this morning to collect the scrap "spotted" last week.

By noon today the school's collection total was approximately 12½ tons, Supt. Paul Shirck said.

Farm machinery, including a corn plow, and wire fence were among the items contributed by several farmers of the community.

Sword and Scabbard in City Schools' Pile

An old sword and scabbard are among the contributions Olney Avenue school has for the scrap heap.

The unusual contribution was among reports from several schools this morning.

Saturday afternoon Nancy Penniston, John Endicott, Patricia Baldauf and Donald Willey of the sixth grade at Olney and Stevie Lytle of the second grade were canvassing their school district, "spotting" scrap for pick-up on Wednesday.

They stopped at the home of C. I. Swartz of 424 West Church street and in the scrap he had collected for the drive were the sword and scabbard, found in the garage of the home when he bought it.

"It was of no use to me, I knew nothing of its history, and I felt it would certainly do some good now," Mr. Swartz said this morning.

Nancy and John, neighbors, took the contribution to the school this morning and told their principal, Miss Luella Scholl, and all their classmates, about their canvass and about the sword and scabbard.

An example of what every boy and girl can do in the scrap drive is reported from the Forest Lawn school.

The first graders, children too small to collect heavy scrap, have turned in more than 300 keys to date. Keys contain metal vital to the naval building program.

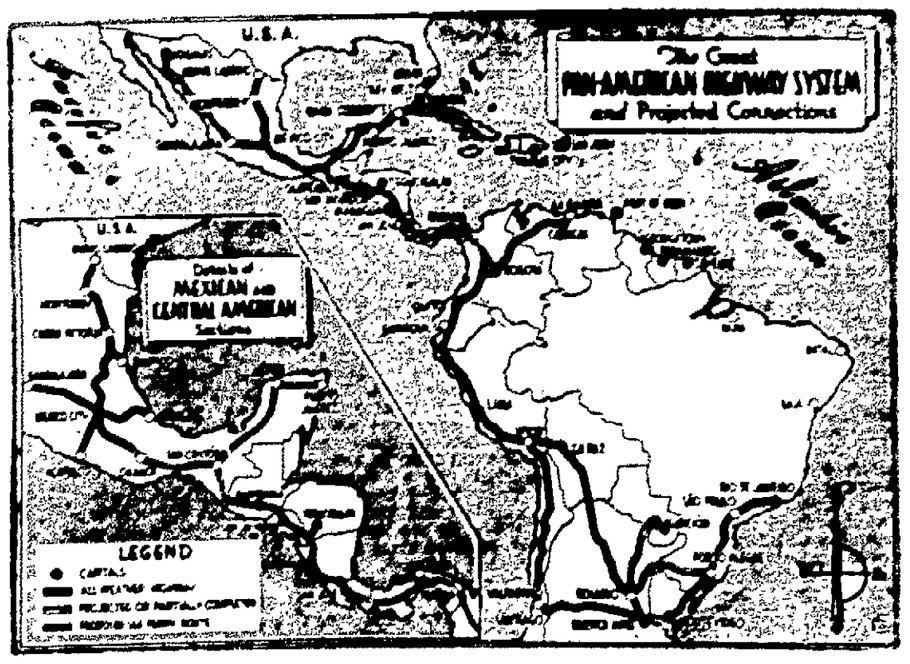
Greenwood school, where the boys and girls began their drive as soon as the nationwide effort was announced, already have turned in nearly two and a half tons of scrap and they say they've only begun their campaign.

Eager to get their scrap into the fight, they took it to a junkyard and were elated when the scales showed 4,950 pounds of iron.

Incidentally, in their collecting they had 350 pounds of rubber and 300 pounds of rags.

Fairly accurate weather forecasting can be done with a new device about the size of a fountain pen to be hung outside a window.

"PIONEER ROAD" TO LINK PAN-AMERICAN HIGHWAY



This map of the Pan-American Highway system and its projected connections has just been released. Although 1,000 miles of the Inter-American highway have been completed, additional construction of 625 miles (white lines on map) will be necessary to provide the needed links. A "Pioneer Road" has been arranged for to fill the gaps. The highway will be dedicated on October 12, the 450th anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus. The highway, as originally planned, will be completed later, but the "Pioneer Road" will permit traffic from terminus of existing railway in Mexico City to the Panama Canal.

Green Announces Support of Anti-Inflation Effort.

By The Associated Press

TORONTO, Oct. 5—Nearly 600 delegates representing almost 5,500,000 organized workers in the United States and Canada assembled today for the opening session of the American Federation of Labor's 62nd annual convention, dedicated to the theme that winning of the war must transcend all other issues.

President William Green forecast the convention keynote in a broadcast preview when he declared: "Only such undertakings as contribute to promoting the war effort can command our immediate support and attention."

His comment on President Roosevelt's executive order designed to combat inflation was that "we will cooperate fully."

New Way Found To Make Valuable Carbon Product

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Wide World Science Editor

LAWRENCE, Kan.—A gas explosion that does some good, by making the most valuable smoke cloud in the world, a mass of carbon black, has been perfected at the University of Kansas.

The new method obtains 30 pounds of carbon black from 1,000 cubic feet of gas, present industrial methods recover only from one-half to two pounds. The explosion also ties in with a chance to reduce the wartime shortage of chlorine.

Carbon black is used in making tires. It doubles the length of wear. Carbon black is also used for water and sugar purification in the form of activated carbon. The particles are so small, averaging one-eight-hundred-millionth of an inch in diameter, that a single cubic inch of carbon black, if spread one particle thick, would cover a field 200 feet long and 170 feet wide.

Chlorine, a green gas sometimes called the green goddess, is a familiar war gas, city water and swimming pool purifier. It has been used for colds. It is a war chemical, used in hundreds of processes, so essential that chlorine is rationed.

The exploding gas is a mixture of natural gas and chlorine. An electric spark or a hot filament will cause this explosion without the presence of oxygen. The mixture is set off in sealed chambers, free of oxygen, arranged so that the carbon cloud settles in a collecting basin. The explosions are continuous. They yield an important byproduct, hydrochloric acid, which has a large use in acidulating oil wells in order to increase their production.

The new process was developed by Dr. George W. Stratton, professor of chemistry, and Delos E. Winkler, now a research chemist for the Shell Petroleum Co., at Emeryville, Cal.

In order to use the carbon black explosion, industry probably must develop more resources for chlorine, and Dr. Stratton thinks Kansas has the answer to that war problem. Salt produces chlorine by a common electrical process and in Central Kansas there is buried enough salt to make a wall about two miles wide and 1,000 feet high, entirely around the state.

The salt deposit is close to the central Kansas oil fields and the petroleum wastes of the fields, Dr. Stratton says, will furnish cheap power for steam generators to make the electricity for chlorine. Due to the low costs, he thinks the salt deposit offers Kansas an opportunity to establish an ideal chlorine industry.

Hungary and Rumania Near War Over Border

By The Associated Press

ANKARA, Turkey, Oct. 3 — (Delayed) — Allied quarters received reports today that territorial differences between Rumania and Hungary over Transylvania had reached such a state that Rumanian officials in Bucharest were expecting war with their neighboring axis satellite.

Hungary and Rumania have been at loggerheads since Hitler dictated the transfer of a large slice of Transylvania from Rumania to Hungary in 1940.

tal axis forces to about 35 divisions.

The Germans claimed that infantry and armored formations had progressed deeper into northern sections of Stalingrad, capturing several blocks of houses in street fighting.

The latest indication of Germany's intention to fight a holding campaign in Russia this winter came yesterday in a harvest festival address by Reichsmarshal Goering, No. 2 Nazi, who declared that Germany now knows "what the Russian winter is like. We will be able to stand it better. The enemy may attack all along the front, but he will be cheated at the final point."

The burden of Goering's harangue, obviously designed to bolster German morale, was that the German population would suffer from hunger this winter only after the resources of German-dominated nations had been exhausted.

"It is my wish that the populations of territories placed under our care or conquered by us should not suffer hunger," he said, but added bluntly:

"If difficulties of food supply arise due to measures by the enemy then all should know: if there is hunger, it will be, in no event, in Germany. From now on it must be the unshakeable fact that the German workman and those working in Germany are supplied with food the best of all."

Growing Boast Ignored

The allies have been bombing Germany at will despite Goering's early boast that no attackers would be able to penetrate the reich's air defenses.

The reason for this, Goering said, is that the luftwaffe is tied up in Russia. When freed from duty there, he promised, Germany will repay the air attacks.

There was a week-end let-up in the allied air offensive from the west but Russian planes, on another sweep into axisland from the east were reported to have bombed Bratislava, capital of puppet Slovakia, last night.

The Vichy radio reported the Bratislava attack and said also that German bombers were over Dover, Canterbury and other points of southern England last night. The British said, however, there was "nothing to report."

The land war in Africa was still in the doldrums but there was offensive air action by the allies over the Mediterranean.

Two Ships Hit

Two large enemy supply ships exploded under direct hits from American heavy bombers which raided axis shipping in Navarino bay, off Pylos, Greece, by daylight Saturday.

British torpedo planes scored a direct hit on a medium-sized merchant vessel Saturday night in raiding an axis convoy in the Ionian sea.

The Italians reported destruction of an allied submarine in the Mediterranean by one of three destroyers.

In the Far Pacific war zone, the Australian pursuit of the Japanese back-tracking through the New Guinea mountain jungleland from Port Moresby, had carried into or near the strategic gap in the Owen Stanley range, about 70 miles from Port Moresby.

Where the Japanese might choose to make a stand was a question but the mountain pass, more than a mile high, seemed likely.

The threat to Port Moresby had been for the time dissolved by seven days of consistent, unopposed advance.

Allied airmen further harassed the Japanese line of retreat and made a night smash at the Buka airdrome, at the northern tip of the Solomons.

PLEADS GUILTY TO ATTACK ON GIRL

Delaware Man Is Bound Over to Grand Jury.

William Orville Curtis Jr., 29, of 42 Spring street, Delaware, was bound over to the county grand jury under $2,500 bond today in municipal court when he pleaded guilty to a charge of intent of rape filed in connection with an attack on a 10-year-old Marion girl.

Curtis was arrested Friday in Delaware on a warrant filed by the mother of the victim. Patrolmen Henry Tong and Clyde Hardin of the police department, assisted by Delaware city police, arrested Curtis at his Delaware home Friday.

Questioning Curtis for about an hour and a half Saturday morning at police headquarters, Police Capt. Mackan said he obtained a signed confession from Curtis admitting the attack.

Curtis contacted the 10-year-old girl Thursday afternoon after she was dismissed from a Marion grade school. Recognizing him as her mother's cousin, she entered his automobile and he drove to an unfrequented spot a few miles from town.

After she had been returned to town, the child told her mother what had happened and the mother immediately contacted police.

Capt. Mackan said that Curtis, who is employed in Marion, is the father of four children ranging in age from one month to nine years.

NAVY REPORTS LOSS OF SUB GRUNION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—The navy announced today that the submarine Grunion had been overdue in the Pacific for some time and must be presumed lost.

The Grunion, launched at Groton, Conn., last December 22, was commanded by Lieutenant Commander Mannert L. Abele, 39, of Quincy, Mass.

The brief navy communique did not say how many men were aboard the submarine, but vessels of this class—1,526 tons—carry a normal complement of approximately 65 men.

This was the fifth submarine reported lost by the navy since the war began.

$4,000 Willed by Marion Man To German Relatives Frozen in U. S.

Part of Morris Lederman Estate Turned Over to Trustee Because War Makes Payment Impossible.

Adolf Hitler [illegible] news from Marion today [illegible] $4,000 belonging to relatives in Germany can only be used in the United States and can't be sent abroad to help his war against the United Nations.

Rightfully it belongs to five descendents in Germany of a Marion man who died in 1933.

The money is from the estate of Morris Lederman Marion egg manufacturer for more than 50 years, who died here on April 22, 1933, at the age of 81.

The heirs are [illegible] Mrs. Rosalie Schramm, and four children Hedwig Lederman, daughter of his brother the late Samuel Lederman, and Mrs. Frieda Weis, Mrs. Gertrude Hartman and Miss Selma Lederman, daughters of the late brother Joseph Lederman all living in Germany.

Whether they are alive today is a question but they were last known to be in Berlin with the exception of Mrs. Hartman, who was living in Charlottenburg.

Three Heirs Get Shares

Three heirs were fortunate enough to get out of Germany and they have received their share of the legacy.

They are a sister, Mrs. Erna Walkowitz in England, and a niece and nephew, Mrs. Regina Strang of Buenos Aires, South America, and Georg Lederman of Nottingham, England, children of the brother Joseph.

Sam A. Prager, one of the executors of the Lederman estate for years was recently appointed trustee of the $4,000 when the estate was closed.

Because the unfortunate heirs are citizens of the German reich and residents of an enemy country with which the United States is at war, by reason of the "trading with the enemy act," it was impossible for the executor to make the distribution to the heirs and the money is "frozen" in this country under laws pertaining to enemy funds.

Some of the estate [illegible] mortgages mostly farms and a half [illegible] of it [illegible] in records of the [illegible] of Dorothea R. Martel [illegible]. A three [illegible] holds the [illegible] document including [illegible] [illegible] with the law firms of Slater & Perrone in London and Rowe & Jackson in Northampton, England.

In the file are birth and death [illegible] in Poland and Germany [illegible] and [illegible] to prove in the estate, letters written on the years and a sheaf of legal papers necessitated by the [illegible] settling of a case with a family overseas.

Mr. Lederman's will was filed in probate court here on May 1, 1935. After all debts were paid the rest and estate to his brothers, Samuel and Joseph Lederman and his sisters, Mrs. Rosalie Schramm and Mrs. Ernestine Hartman. He had made the [illegible] before his death and the document listed all of them as residents of Berlin, Germany.

Some Heirs Died

It was necessary to file action to determine heirship and when this long procedure finally was completed it developed that Samuel Lederman had died in June of 1936, leaving two children, Selma and Hedwig, and that in March of 1939 Selma died, leaving her share to Hedwig.

The brother Joseph had died in 1932, leaving five children, including Georg who had gone to England and Mrs. Regina Strang who had gone to Buenos. A sister Mrs. Walkowitz had moved to England.

Morris Lederman, their brother and uncle, came to Marion in 1876 from New York City. He was a native of Germany and was a pioneer cigar manufacturer here. Many years ago he was prominent in the then Deutscher Bund of Marion, a German society, and of the singing society which was a part of the organization.

Fortified Japanese Islands on Guard Against Attack

Land Taken from Germany in World War I Now Serves as Protection to Enemy of Allies.

By WALTER B. CLAUSEN

PEARL HARBOR, T. H.—(Wide World) — Truk, the Palaus and Saipan are three names to remember in evaluating reports of American and allied victories in the great war of the Pacific.

Truk, the Palaus and Saipan are the cornerstones of Japanese strength and strategy in the southwest Pacific. They are in the islands which Japan seized from Germany in World war one, and later took over by mandate from the League of Nations. For years they have been developed as major strongholds in the Japanese plan to carve an empire in the southwest Pacific.

Truk is the central powerhouse for Japanese action in the southwest Pacific. It was developed by Japan as the major defensive offense center against any move by the United States to attack Japan. It is to Japan what Pearl Harbor is to the United States. Its development has been one of Japan's most guarded secrets. No visitors have been permitted there for years.

Cluster of Islands

Truk is not one great island, but a cluster of 245 islands, with a lagoon 40 miles in diameter, facilities to shelter the whole Japanese fleet, and base facilities for a vast invasion army.

Destruction or neutralization of Truk would be a Japanese disaster of the first magnitude. This would be a major American victory. It would be a mighty tough job.

Palaus, a group of 26 islands about 1,200 miles west of Truk, is a Japanese base of almost equal importance. It has deep water enough to harbor the entire Japanese fleet plus all the transports needed for invasion or defense.

Truk is 800 miles from Rabaul in the Bismarck Archipelago and Palau is about 1,400 miles.

Saipan, in the Marianas, known also as the Ladrones, is 702 miles north by east of Truk, and is a vital stepping stone to Japan proper.

These are but three points in the 2,550 islands of the Micronesian group which the Japanese has controlled since the World war. Japan has perhaps a million fighting men ready for quick movement from these stepping stones, and the whole fighting resources of the Japanese empire, land, sea and air forces, can be moved quickly down this chain of communications.

Admiral Nobusasa Suetsugu, one of Japan's greatest naval leaders, said in January, 1941, that the only route open to the United States fleet to strike at Japan runs south from Hawaii, around these mandated islands to New Zealand, Australia, Manila and Singapore.

Japs Felt Assured

It was apparently with a feeling of assurance that any movement from Australia had been neutralized, that Japan in the middle of May ordered her main fleet and a mighty invasion armada to carry out none of her major war plans, the conquest of Hawaii.

The Japanese strategic analysis seemed to be that, after the Coral Sea battle, the defense of the Hawaiian islands had been weakened by a shifting of forces to the south to save Australia from invasion. Japan already had carved out her intended "co-prosperity sphere" with achievement of her southwest Pacific plan. The next probable move was to knock the United States out of the Pacific.

Then came the battle of Midway, and the move for conquest of Hawaii was crumpled. This was the first real setback, and a most costly one, that Japan had met.

Evidence has been found that the Japanese expected no real opposition to moving into and taking over Pearl Harbor. The nest of lethal hornets the Japanese armada ran into west and north of Midway will rank in history as perhaps one of the greatest military surprises in history.

When the full story of Midway can be written, this will be clearly revealed. Among other things it will show that the Japanese were so unprepared for opposition that the invasion group of the armada, the transports, steamed on fully 24 hours after it could have been turned back, saving many ships and lives.

It was the first time an armada had been crumpled by air power. The Japanese had no plan to meet it.

Front 7,000 Miles Long

The front is 7,000 miles long, from the Aleutians down to the Bismarck archipelago and New Guinea.

The Japanese still hold a footing in the Aleutians. There is no indication of any exhaustion of supplies or equipment. They are still flying their fighting planes with American made gasoline.

Japanese losses in aircraft carriers have been severe. But the Japanese still have aircraft carriers.

American aircraft have proved superior in operation, and American air losses have been much less in combat than the Japanese. But the Japanese still have a lot of airplanes.

Many other examples could be cited as to why it exasperates a military leader to hear of a pollyanna interpretation of the successes his operations produce. He knows, as do the marines down in the Solomons, that the Japs are tricky, and nothing would delight the imperial headquarters in Tokyo more than to have the Americans feel that the war is practically won and so they can relax a bit.

N.Y.C. Asks To Close White Sulphur Station

STALIN CALLS FOR MORE AID

Red Chieftain Makes Blunt Demand for Opening of Second Front.

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Copyright 1942,
By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Oct. 5 — Oft-voiced Russian desires for speedy establishment of a second front were given new urgency today by a blunt statement from Joseph Stalin and he called on the allies to fulfill their pledges of aid fully and without delay.

The help they have delivered to date, he declared, had been comparatively ineffective.

Stalin's statement was delivered in the form of a letter answering three questions submitted to him in writing by this correspondent, chief of the Moscow bureau of The Associated Press, and represented the Soviet premier's first public utterance on the second front issue in more than a year.

Text of Letter

The text of the letter, typed on a plain sheet of white notepaper and signed in a bold hand, follows:

"Dear Mr. Cassidy:

"Owing to the pressure of work and my consequent inability to grant you an interview, I shall confine myself to a brief written answer to your questions.

"One: What place does the possibility of a second front occupy in the Soviet estimates of the current situation?"

"Answer: A very important place—one might say a place of first rate importance.

"Two: To what extent is allied aid to the Soviet Union proving effective and what could be done to amplify and improve this aid?

"Answer: As compared with the aid which the Soviet Union is giving to the allies by drawing upon itself the main force of the German Fascist, the aid of the allies to the Soviet Union has so far been little effective. In order to amplify and improve this aid, only one thing is required: that the allies fulfill this obligation fully and on time.

"Three: What remains of the Soviet capacity for resistance?

"Answer: I think that the Soviet capacity of resisting the German brigands is in strength not less, if not greater, than the capacity of Fascist Germany or any other aggressive power to secure for itself world domination.

"With respect,
"J. Stalin."

This communication, written in Russian and accompanied by an authorized English translation, was handed to me yesterday only 24 hours after I had submitted my queries at the gate of the Kremlin.

Confirms Churchill Report

In effect, it confirmed the report which Prime Minister Churchill carried back to Britain after his visit to Moscow in August—that Russia is not satisfied with the support he has been receiving from the allies.

Stalin himself made no statement after Churchill's visit — in fact his last public reference to the second front question was on Nov. 6, 1941, when he told a meeting of Communist party leaders celebrating the anniversary of the Bolshevist revolution:

"One of the reasons for the reverses of the Red army is the absence of a second front."

(Dispatches from London said that Stalin's statement had received wide attention in Britain).

WILLKIE MEETS CHINESE STUDENTS AT CHUNGKING

Spends Ten Hours with Chiang; To Visit Front.

By The Associated Press

CHUNGKING, Oct. 5 — Willkie mingled for more than four hours today with students and faculty members at four Chungking government educational institutions, reiterating his message of "anti-imperialism" and receiving a spontaneous welcome that left him visibly affected.

Later Willkie lunched with silver-haired Chen Li-Fu, minister of education, and then gave a luncheon himself in honor of Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, commander of the U. S. army air forces in China.

Leading figures of the Chinese educational and scientific world were present at the first luncheon, where Willkie for the first time ate Chinese food with chopsticks.

It was disclosed, meanwhile, that arrangements had been made for Willkie to visit the Chinese battlefront.

Yesterday he had a busy day, touring Chungking's war industries, meeting political leaders, including the Communist General Chou En Lai, and finally having a three and one-half hour heart-to-heart talk with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Both Chiang and Willkie refused to comment on the nature of their discussion.

Lad, 13, Saves Brothers as Mother Dies in Fire

By The Associated Press

WILMINGTON, O., Oct. 5—A 13-year-old boy yesterday rescued five of his younger brothers after flames from an exploded kitchen stove fatally burned his mother.

William Cundiff, 13, oldest son in the family, was burned about the face and shoulders trying to smother with bed clothing the flames which enveloped his mother, Mrs. Elsie Cole Cundiff, 32. The stove exploded when she threw kerosene on live coals.

After carrying his mother outside their home near here, William went back into the house and rescued his younger brothers before the structure was razed by flames. Four of the boys had been in bed with whooping cough.

The top of a new coffee table can be tilted to serve as a reading stand or raised along its support for playing games and a number of other uses.

WHAT TO DO With YOUR SCRAP

If you are willing to donate your scrap, give it to the schools. If a student doesn't call on you and ask for it by the end of this week (if you live outside the city) or by the end of next week (if you live in Marion city) call either the school superintendent or the county salvage committee, 7194. If you want to sell your scrap, contact a junk dealer direct rather than through the county salvage committee.

Watch this paper for details of the big scrap drive.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 — The mighty Yankees looked beaten and demoralized and out of pitchers as they went into the fifth game of the 1942 world series today against the St. Louis Cardinals one of the most underrated clubs ever to fight its way into the classic and now leading the series three to one.

Defeated twice running in their home park by a team they had confidently expected to trounce, jittery and crippled and feuding with the umpires, the proud Hornbery looked ready for the kill.

63,902 See Game

When they rallied twice in the closing innings to slug out a 9 to 6 victory in yesterday's tussle before a record series throng of 63,902 at Yankee stadium, the daring young men from the west left little doubt in anyone's mind that they had what it took.

The previous day they had done it with pitching, when their lefty Ernie White blanked the old champions, 2 to 0 — the first whitewashing administered to a Yankee team in a world series since 1926. Yesterday the Cards said it with their bats, and for the second time in the Series took off a crushing home run by the Yankees' Charley Keller to break a resultant tie and come on to win.

Cooper Fails Again

The only disappointing thing about the Cards up to this point had been the failure of their top pitcher, Mort Cooper, winner of 22 games in the regular season, to win either of his two starts in the playoff. The Yankees licked him in the first game, when he lacked control, and they knocked him from the hill again yesterday, when they scored five runs to tie the score at 6-6 in the sixth inning. But where Cooper fell down, his brother-in-law Max Lanier made some through.

Catcher Bill Dickey, one of the noblest Yankees of them all, made perhaps the last absolutely foolish and unnecessary wild throw of his illustrious baseball career to put the winning St. Louis run on third base, whence it scored a moment later. There was no accounting for it except that the Cards had upset even Dickey.

Inconsistency Is One of Bugbears of 1942 Teams

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—As subtle as a dollar alarm clock is the impression that this football season will be one without form.

This view isn't caused by the early defeats already pasted to the records of Minnesota, Texas, Notre Dame, Louisiana State, Fordham and other annual contenders for recognition. Rather it's the variance in the play of all club from one week to the next.

Louisiana State pushed over Texas A. & M. on September 26 last Saturday but was a pushover for Rice in October's opener. Pittsburgh was a 50 to 7 victim of Minnesota one week but a 20 to 7 master of Southern Methodist the next. And the Gophers followed their lop-sided win by losing to the Iowa Pre-Flight Cadets, 7 to 6.

The lack of consistency is attributed by numerous coaches to a lack of adequate reserves because of the war's manpower demands and the use of freshmen.

For the third straight week the Iowa Cadets of Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman will tangle with Big Ten opposition this Saturday. This time it will be Michigan, already the conqueror of the Great Lakes squad.

Princeton, spilled by little Williams, and Navy move into the New York Yankees' stadium, and Army, safely past Lafayette, is host to Cornell, which lost for the first time in six contests to Colgate, 18 to 6.

The midwest offers the Stanford at Notre Dame battle plus the appearance of Southern California, held to a scoreless draw by Washington, at Columbus Wisconsin, which got four touchdowns in one peroid against Marquette, collides with equally unbeaten Missouri at Madison.

In the south, Florida engages Auburn, and Georgia, hoping that Frankie Sinkwich will be back to par, goes against Mississippi, while the area's big game is the meeting of Louisiana State and Mississippi State.

Tennessee, which all but annihilated Fordham, 40 to 14, packs on little Dayton, Texas has its annual scrimmage with Oklahoma. Pacific coast interest will be centered on the Oregon State-UCLA battle.

BIG TEN PENNANT BELIEVED TO REST AMONG FIVE TEAMS

Ohio State One of Bidders Although Not at Top of the List

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 5—In light of past performances, it's possible to come out of the dark and put the finger on five teams which seem to make the Western Conference football title chase mostly a three-cornered affair.

Minnesota, Michigan, Northwestern, Ohio State and Wisconsin seem about right, too—appear to be going places in a hurry.

Although the Golden Gophers are not among the last undefeated teams in the conference, they must be regarded as the class attraction in the long run. They romped a 7 to 6 verdict to Bernie Bierman's Iowa Seahawk lads yesterday, but outplayed them in almost every statistic.

The pre-flighters, who also hold a 20-12 decision over Northwestern, go to Michigan Saturday. The Wolverines, struggling along without Tom Kuzma, routed Michigan State, 20 to 0.

Northwestern, whose score card in two games lists only a 3-point field goal in host to Purdue Saturday in one of the two conference engagements. Purdue dropped its second game of the season to Vanderbilt, 50 to 7.

Ohio State, mastered upon while cuffing out 59 points in two games, entertains Southern California.

Wisconsin, whose greatest scourge in three games was its 25 to 7 victory over Marquette last week, takes on Missouri.

Illinois, with 113 points and an unscathed goal line against South Dakota and Butler, gets its first big test Saturday with Minnesota. Illinois goes to Nebraska and Camp Grant to Iowa in three games.

Ohio State Makes Promising Start

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 5—Those Ohio State Bucks, 32 to 21 victors over Indiana's highly-rated Hoosiers Saturday, are a pretty fair country ball club, and they're liable to have a lot to say about who wears the Western Conference crown this year.

A quick thumbing through the statistics for the first two games—the conquest of Indiana and the 59-0 rout of Fort Knox—shows the Bucks are playing headsup ball, that they take advantage of every break, and that they are a one-to-two bet to score everytime they get their hands on the pigskin.

Against the first two opponents Ohio has had possession of the ball 28 times, and the Bucks have scored 14 touchdowns, being forced to punt seven times, losing the ball three times on fumbles and three times on pass interceptions, and only once on downs.

On the other hand the Bucks have intercepted seven forward passes—and turned four of them into touchdowns while the lone fumble recovery by Paul Brown's boys also resulted in a six-pointer. Ohio has run up 19 first downs against each for a total of 38, nine of them through the air, while the opposition has been getting 11, four of them on aerial and one on a penalty.

On rushing the Bucks show a net yardage of 781 against 165 for the two opponents and Ohio is out front through the airways by 175 yards to 87.

Gene Kekoto, sophomore fullback from Findlay, who cracked the Indiana line for three touchdowns Saturday, and then booted two extra points for a total of 20, tops the team in scoring with 35 markers.

With only one game having been played in the conference, the Bucks hold the lead in everything. Fekete is the leading scorer with 20 points, and Ohio State is on top in the standing. And the 48,227 folks who saw Saturday's battle are firm in their belief the Bucks might stay up there for a while.

Owens Wins Marion County Open Golf Championshi

Defeats Bob Baker 7 and 6 in 36-H Finals Match at Marion Country Club.

ROBERT C. "BOB" OWENS of 402 Mt. Vernon avenue, president and secretary of the Osmond Co., is the 1942 Marion open golf tourney champion.

Owens won the title by defeating Bob Baker 7 and 6 in a 36-hole finals match played yesterday at the Marion Country Club of Marion.

The victory gives Owens possession of The Marion Star trophy for the year in order to retain the trophy permanently. Owens will win the title two more times before any other contestant will win the annual title.

Defending champion John Rife won permanent possession of the first trophy by scoring three wins in a row. G. E. Darnell defeated Rife 1 up in a second round match of this year's tourney.

Wins Gold Trophy

The new trophy measures 35 inches over all. The base of the trophy is made of gasoline A 10-inch golf ball with the bronze figure is mounted on the bakelite base. Mounted on top of the cup is a 9-inch figure of a golfer in the act of completing a drive.

The new champion battled his way into final round by defeating R. C. Isely 3 up in the semi-finals after winning over Howard Henry 4 and 3 in the second round. He drew a bye in the first round.

While Owens participated in all four of the Y.M.C.A. sponsored tournaments, on only one occasion before this year had he won his way into the final round. In 1940 he swept through to a bracket champion only to lose to John Rife in the finals of the championship flight.

Baker, brother of Pvt. Bud Baker, who starred in the early county championships, won over G. E. Darnell 2 and 1 in the semi-finals, 3 and 2 over John Dugan in the quarter-finals and 5 and 4 over Pvt. Maley in the opening round.

Thirteen Marion county golfers qualified for the championship flight early in September.

Bill Durtschi of Galion Solves Ohio State Punting Problem.

By LOREN W. TIBBALS
Marion Star Sports Editor

Bill Durtschi of Galion, former all-N. C. O. football star, has temporarily solved the Ohio State punting problem as a result of his fine record Saturday against the highly-rated Indiana eleven. Coach Paul Brown hustled Durtschi into the [illegible] Buck line-up five times when the situation called for a punt. Durtschi's five tries averaged 31 yards.

Bill Durtschi

Durtschi weighs slightly over 170 pounds. He is a junior at Ohio State and is enrolled in the college of engineering. His high scholastic average has enabled him to live in the Tower club, one of three cooperative dormitories for men located in Ohio stadium.

In Self-Defense . . .

Another football season and another long list of reasons why this coach and that coach doesn't think his team will turn out to be a championship outfit.

It's the same story coaches had to tell last year, the year before and probably a dozen years before that. Nevertheless, most teams, and Marion Harding particularly, are equalling and in some instances surpassing their 1941 marks up to the same date.

Likewise, with only a few exceptions, the same coaches each week during the fall season go far out of their way to rate their teams as underdogs or, at best, as 50-50 choices in the current game.

While this is characteristic of the football coaching tradition, the situation is exactly the opposite in baseball. The baseball manager or coach who will not predict a pennant, world series championship, or its equivalent in the minor leagues is a rarity.

What makes for this decided difference in the two branches of the same trade is a mystery.

This correspondent refuses to believe that any team can be so bad as some football coaches would have the reading public believe.

In line of policy, your correspondent tagged last week's Marion Harding-Mt. Vernon game a breather for the local lads. As the basis for this prediction, we referred to the past performances of both teams as well as a check-up on the camparative manpower available to each coach.

While Harding's opening 18-6 win over Columbus West was far from an impressive debut, it far outshone Mt. Vernon's record of two straight losses—31 to 0 to Xenia O. S. & S. O and 31-7 to Coshocton.

In addition, Harding Coach Vic Dorris had five lettermen and a number of talented reserves from which to select a starting team. Sufficient material for a better than average second team was also at hand.

Mt. Vernon, on the other hand, started the season with five lettermen, but only three of these were expected to play against Harding. Injuries received in the first two games shelved both Co-Capt. Eddie Wright and Center Bill Lybarger. Of the three available lettermen, only Co-Capt. Bill Wright, brother of Eddie, had approached his 1941 record in the first two games this season.

And so the Mt. Vernon fate was conceeded throughout the N. C. O. conference except but by a small local group.

Playing true to form Harding waded to a 20-0 lead at halftime. Before the half was completed nearly every member of the Harding squad had seen some action and before the game ended every Harding player making the trip had played.

Injury of Fullback LeRoy Harvey on the second play of the third quarter disheartened the whole Harding team. Without Harvey, the local's offense bogged down and the Harding score remained unchanged, although Mt. Vernon managed to push across a fourth quarter score, escaping a complete washout. The final score was Harding 20, Mt. Vernon 7.

By inserting second and third stringers in the Harding line-up for part of the second quarter, Coach Vic Dorris showed his light regard for the Yellow Jacket eleven. But by substituting freely during the second half, Coach Dorris acknowledged an easy Harding victory.

One, two or maybe three more breathers are ahead for the Harding eleven, but for the next two week-ends, Harding's best play in its first two games will not be good enough to equal the potential strength of either Lima Central or Ashland. Harding ventures to Lima Friday night to avenge a Lima's 0-0 tie with the local squad in 1941.

In what appears to be the outstanding game of the 1942 N. C. O. conference, Ashland will make its bid to wrest the league crown from the Presidents at Harding stadium Oct. 16.

• • •

All-N.C.O. Nominees . . .

Until better players are brought forth, we'll take LeRoy Harvey, Harold Jenkins and Calvin Scott in our all-N. C. O. backfield. Stu Young, fourth member of Harding's starting backfield in last Friday's N. C. O. opener, is a junior. Heretofore, seniors have been given preference unless an underclassman has been exceptionally outstanding during the year. The choices will be made by league sport writers at the end of the season.

DODGERS AND BEARS ARE ONLY UNBEATEN PRO FOOTBALL TEAMS

Bears Defeat Rams 21-7 as Dodgers Overpower Brooklyn 26-7.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 5—The Brooklyn Dodgers and the Chicago Bears were the only unbeaten clubs in the National football league today.

The Bears who not only wrote up their second win in league competition but also their schedule for the entire season with the Chicago Cardinals relegated to Western field in a Sunday tilt one of the feature attractions. The Dodgers will entertain the Pittsburgh Steelers and captured their first victory in three games yesterday by upsetting the Giants, last year's eastern division champions.

Other league engagements Sunday will bring Detroit against Green Bay at Milwaukee, Cleveland to Washington and Philadelphia to New York.

Merlyn Condit dashed for three touchdowns yesterday as the Dodgers handed the Detroit Lions their third consecutive loss and fourth for the season, by a 26 to 7 count.

Yesterday's results:

Green Bay 17, Chicago Cardinals 13

Chicago Bears 21, Cleveland 7

Pittsburgh 13, New York 10.

Brooklyn 26, Detroit 7.

Washington 14, Philadelphia 12

Detroit Owner Fires Coach, Assistant

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Oct. 5—Huge John (Bull) Karcis, less than a year ago removed from a high school coaching job, today went to work as head coach of the Detroit Lions and successor to Big Bill Edwards.

Karcis, 235-pound former Carnegie Tech and national football league fullback, was elevated yesterday by Owner Fred L. Mandel from backfield coach after the Lions had dropped their third successive game, 26 to 7 to the Brooklyn Dodgers. Karcis thus became Detroit's fifth coach in five years and sixth since the franchise was removed here from Portsmouth, O., in 1934.

Karcis came to the Lions this fall from a high school coaching job at Pitcairn, Pa.

Edwards and Ray Miller, assistant coach also fired, teammates and associates since their high school days at Massillon, O., came into the pro league last fall from Western Reserve university where in six years their teams won 49, lost six and tied two. Their pro record is four victories, nine defeats and one tie. Edwards was a star center at Wittenberg a decade ago.

Mandel said he would pay off the two year-contracts of both that expire next March. Edwards was reputedly earning $7,500 a year and Miller $5,000.

The two coaches said they intended to keep an appointment, made last week, to submit to medical examinations today for possible commissions in the marines as physical instructors. Edwards is 37 and Miller a year older.

Cubs Beat White Sox 5-3 To Prolong City Series

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 5—The White Sox return to their own park tonight to try for the one victory they need to retain the city series crown they have won seven straight times starting in 1931.

The series was prolonged yesterday when the Cubs, beaten in the first three games, returned to take the fourth game, 5 to 3, behind Hiram Bithorn's eight-hit pitching.

TWO PRISONERS FLEE

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—In the middle of the Yanks' big inning yesterday the wind finally unfurled a big banner that had been draped disconcolately around the flagpole . . . It said: "New York Yankees World champions 1941." . . . There's your story of the series . . . The Yanks still are good, but they're not the irresistible Yanks of a year ago, and the Cards are a livelier, more dangerous club than the Dodgers were last fall . . . Somehow, the clubs found room for all hands on a train tonight.

Red Convoys Go Through, Navy Captain Declares

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 5—Capt. Leland P. Lovette, navy public relations director, said today that the navy was getting its convoys through to Russia despite the combined efforts of German sea forces and aircraft to halt them.

"The strategy of our war leaders is to give Russia everything we can in its great fight," said Captain Lovette, here to address a luncheon meeting of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce.

"If we get 50 per cent of our shipments through to Russia we consider the game worth the candle, but the average of our losses has been very much less. Two of our convoys were hard hit but others have gotten through without loss."

He described the Japanese invasion of the Aleutian islands as one vast "rat trap," where losses to the Rising Sun navy were the greatest of the war considering the scope of action involved.

16 on Crawford Co. Auto Tire Ban List

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Oct. 5 — Names of 16 Crawford county violators of the 40 mile speed regulation as set up formerly by the OPA, have been certified to the Crawford county ration board with orders to refuse tires, tubes and recaps to the violators. To be certified in the future will be all persons reported traveling in excess of 35 miles per hour.

GALION WOMAN DIES

GALION, Oct. 5—Mrs. Anthony P. Link, 74, died Wednesday at the home of her son, Frank Link, of Dearborn, Mich., where she and Mr. Link had been visiting for the past week. She is survived by her husband, and son, and four grandchildren. Funeral was held in Dearborn Friday and the body was brought to Galion Friday night and taken to the Snyder funeral home. The body will be placed in a mausoleum. Mrs. Link was a member of St. Patrick's church.

ONE ARREST MADE IN FIVE ACCIDENTS

Assault and Battery Charge Filed by Driver.

Raymond D. Howell, 37-year-old Negro living at 183 Senate street was arrested by city police Sunday afternoon on a warrant of assault and battery filed by Walter Dutton, 22, of 573 Avondale avenue following one of five minor auto accidents reported to city police over the week-end.

Howell and Dutton were drivers of cars which collided at the intersection of West Center and Leader streets. Dutton told police that Howell apparently ran through a red light as he attempted to make a turn into West Center street from Leader street. Dutton charged Howell struck him during an argument over the accident.

When arraigned in municipal court today, Howell pleaded not guilty and was ordered to appear in municipal court Oct. 12 for hearing.

A minor accident in front of 813 North State street Sunday afternoon at 2:40 involved cars driven by Walker C. Winfield, 54, of 517 East Farming street and Edward D. Clemmons, 18, of North State street. Both cars were slightly damaged, police reports showed.

A car driven by Mack Black, 30, of Columbus and another driven by E. E. Clark, 39, of 227 Lincoln avenue figured in a collision at the intersection of East Center and High streets Saturday night at 6:58. A sideswipe accident Saturday night at 5:30 involved cars driven by Edna D. Hoopes, 33, of 292 East Center street and J. L. McIntire of 224 Thew avenue. Both cars were slightly damaged.

Leon Fannin Sr., 50, of 545 Tyler street and Ora Imbodin, 23, of 965 North State street were drivers of cars which figured in a slight collision early Saturday night at the intersection of Jefferson and Van Buren streets.

Initiation Services Held by District P.H.C.

A class of eight candidates was initiated by the women's degree team of Marion, captained by Charles Smithson, at a district meeting of the Protected Home circle Saturday night with Marion Circle No. 184 at the Central Labor union hall. The meeting, attended by delegations from Columbus and Lima, opened the fall and winter program arranged by the officers of the Marion circle.

State Deputy S. C. Abell of Dayton presided for the meeting which followed the initiatory ceremonies. He presided at the request of Mrs. Jean Murton, president of the degree team.

Field Director Joseph Spencer of Sharon, Pa., talked on affairs of the order and complimented Marion circle on its record during 1942. Following the meeting lunch was served and there was dancing to music by Kline's orchestra.

Marion circle's first regular meeting of the new year will be conducted Tuesday night at 8 in the labor hall.

Delaware Legion Post Votes To Scrap Guns

DELAWARE, O., Oct. 5—Leading off Delaware's participation in the nationwide scrap drive, Raymond B. Austin post of the American Legion, has announced it would give the large German cannon in the Legion park and all of its World War I relics at the post headquarters. The cannon will be moved from the park and cut into movable scrap within a few days. Other articles which the Legion will contribute include helmets and a machine gun.

Bucyrus Newspaper Boys Guests of Soldiers

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Oct. 5 — Bucyrus newspaper carrier boys experienced the thrill of eating in the mess hall with soldiers of the 753rd Engineer's battalion at Camp Millard Friday night as the highlight of National Newspaper boys week.

As a feature of the meeting, boys who have achieved the designated goal in the sale of war saving stamps and bonds, were presented with pins and medals by Major K. L. Urich of the Engineers. Lt. Col. Lester Meek spoke to the boys and congratulated them on their achievement.

DISTRICT D. OF A. GROUP HAS MEETING IN MARION

Past Councilors Here from Eight Communities.

Paramount Council No. 37, Daughters of America, was host for the meeting of past councilors of district No. 4 at the Democratic headquarters Saturday afternoon. Fifty-six past councilors were present from Mansfield, Ashland, Crestline, Bucyrus, Galion, Shelby, Tiffin and Bloomville.

Plans were made for the next district meeting at Mansfield Saturday, Jan. 9. Meetings will be held quarterly instead of every two months for the duration of the war. Additional plans were made for a union meeting of district No. 4 at Ashland Nov. 19 at which time Mrs. Mabel Adkins, state councilor, will be present.

Three candidates were initiated at the meeting which was in charge of Mrs. Eva Parks, district president from Shelby. Dinner was served after the meeting.

SEPTEMBER BOND SALES OVER QUOTA

Reported by Sec. Morgenthau; Marion Figure Not Given.

Nationwide sales of war savings bonds in September totaled $638,250,000, well above the $775,000,000 quota for the month, Secretary Morgenthau announced today.

Official figure for the month in Marion county have not been forwarded from the federal reserve bank in Cleveland, the county war bond committee said today.

Secretary Morgenthau said that the September war bond campaign in which the motion picture industry played a prominent part had been "an outstanding success."

In Marion on one day when a trio of Hollywood stars came for dinner and a rally at the Harding stadium sales totaled more than $103,000.

The secretary expressed particular satisfaction with the steady growth of the payroll savings campaign which aims to have 30,000,000 income earners setting aside at least 10 per cent of their pay in war bonds every payday.

National figures show that last month approximately 19,500,000 workers set aside a total of $265,000,000 out of payrolls, an average rate of eight per cent of all the workers participating.

Commenting on the motion picture industry's participation, the secretary said:

"The greatest impetus of all came from the score of motion picture stars appearing at bond rallies in more than 300 cities and from thousands of motion picture theaters which sold war bonds at regular and special performances. . . . I would be remiss if I did not express my especial thanks to all those in the motion picture industry, the theater owners, the stars, the producers, the theater employes, and in fact every one in the industry who worked so unselfishly in September to make the month's war bond record a success."

Seven Arrests Made By Police Over Week-End

Seven arrests, three for intoxication and disorderly conduct and four for disorderly conduct, were made over the week-end by city police.

Arrested for intoxication and disorderly conduct were: Finney Frye, 60, of Davids street; George Skatzes, 36, of 976 North State street; and Felix F. Morganti, 40, of 545 Silver street.

The four arrested for disorderly conduct were: Clayton Wolford of near Marion, D. V. Ramsey, 35, of 135 East Fairground street, Charles E. Jones, 24, of 168 East Center street and B. F. Crabtree, 50, of 812 North State street.

Bond, Stamp Sale at Theater Reported

Members of the Marion Council of Jewish Women sold war bonds and stamps in the amount of $4,315.40 during September at the Palace theater, George Planck, manager, announced today. During the month the theater issued stamps and bonds totalling $18,975, exclusive of the last three days which will go into the October report. The council's sale of bonds amounted to $3,275 and of stamps, $440.40. During October the sales will be in charge of young women of Lambda Chi Omega sorority.

Two Cars Catch Fire Here Over Week-End

Cars belonging to Miss Bernice Isler of Green Camp and L. J. Smith caught fire over the week-end. The fire in the Isler car, which was parked in front of 653 Davids street Saturday night, was caused by a short in the wiring it was reported. Mr. Smith's car was in front of 883 Bennett street when it caught fire Sunday afternoon. The fire was caused by a flooded carburetor. Firemen in the chief's car answered the calls. No damage was done.

Dickey made a wild throw past Rizzuto, while trying to stop Slaughter at second and Slaughter went on to third on the error.

Hopp flied deep to DiMaggio in right center.

One run, two hits, one error, one left.

YANKEES—On the first pitch Keller lifted a long fly to Musial.

Gordon bounced to Kurowski and was thrown out.

Slaughter backed up almost to the low right field wall to take Dickey's fly.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

• • •

Seventh Inning

CARDINALS—Kurowski worked the count to two and two and then flied to DiMaggio in left center.

Marion fouled off several pitches and finally popped to Rizzuto in short left.

Beazley struck out on three pitches.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

YANKEES—Priddy grounded to Marion and was thrown out.

Ruffing struck out on four pitches.

After working a full count, Rizzuto hit a ground single to center.

Slaughter ran back in front of the Cardinal bullpen in right field to take Rolfe's fly.

No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

• • •

Eighth Inning

CARDINALS—Brown hit the second pitch for a ground single into left. T. Moore sacrificed, Priddy to Gordon who covered first. Slaughter maneuvered a two and two count and then popped to Rizzuto on the baseline between second and third. Musial knocked an easy grounder to Gordon and was thrown out.

YANKEES—Cullenbine grounded to Hopp back of first base and Hopp, after first trying to race to the bag, tossed the ball to Beazley for the putout on a close play.

DiMaggio drove a long liner to Musial in left field.

Keller bounced down the first baseline and Beazley ran over, grabbed the ball and stepped on first base for the putout, all in one motion.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

• • •

Ninth Inning

CARDINALS—With the count two strikes and one ball, W. Cooper drove a single into right center.

Hopp sacrificed, Ruffing to Gordon who covered first.

Kurowski homered into the left field stands just inside the foul line as Keller fell headlong over the low wall and Kurowski trailed W. Cooper across the plate.

Marion popped to Dickey in front of the plate.

Beazley flied to Rizzuto in short center.

Two runs, two hits, no errors, none left.

Dickey rolled to Brown who muffed the ball for an error and both runners were safe.

Stainback ran for Dickey.

W. Cooper threw to Marion picking Gordon off second.

Priddy popped to Brown.

Selkirk batted for Ruffing.

Brown threw out Selkirk.

ARMY SEEKS CAUSE OF CRASH AT AKRON

All Seven Members of Bomber Crew Killed.

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Oct. 5—Army air force officers today were said to be investigating in an effort to determine what caused a problem bomber to crash with the loss of all seven crew members' lives near the Akron airport.

Witnesses said one of the plane's motors failed, turned sharply after a takeoff from the airport Saturday night and the ship burst into flames as it crashed on its back.

A fire-man investigating board from Bare field at Ft. Wayne, Ind., the bombers home base, identified the victims as:

Lieut. Claude S. Jackson, 22, Akron.

Lieut. Ralph C. Shrigley, 23, Rockstown, Portage county.

Second Lieut. Albert L. Spickers, Midland Park, N. J.

Second Lieut. Thomas F. Sarfield, Providence, R. I.

Lieut. William F. Helm, Minneapolis, Minn.

Sergeant John T. McDonald, New York City.

Sergeant James F. Gaffney, Munch Chunk, Pa.

The plane's motors had been checked by mechanics just before the take-off, Captain Harry Riley of Post field reported. An investigating board from Wright and Patterson Fields, Dayton, declined comment after inspecting the wreckage and questioning witnesses.

Lt. Jackson was the sole survivor of another plane crash which killed six crew members and two civilians at Mulberry, Fla., last Aug. 22. His father, L. R. Jackson, of Akron flew to Akron, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shrigley, parents of another victim, witnessed the crash. They had gone to the airport to see their son.

Details Lacking In Newfoundland Crash

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—Details were lacking today concerning the crash of an airplane at Botwood, Newfoundland Saturday, in which ten men were killed and at least eight persons were injured.

Headquarters of the eastern defense command and the first army, which announced the crash, said there were 27 persons aboard the plane, but did not disclose how many were passengers.

Two of the occupants of the plane were women, but both apparently escaped injury.

Second Lieut. Richard W. Brueggman of nearby Copley, O., who was listed among the survivors, visited his parents in Akron, O., two weeks ago shortly after

Galion Man Held To Crawford Co. Jury

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct. 5—Daniel C. Barrett, former Galion township constable, was bound over to the Crawford county grand jury under $5,000 bond on charges of shooting with intent to kill. The charge which was heard in Mayor William Annan's court Saturday morning, was preferred by Mrs. Hazel Barrett, who recently obtained a divorce from him.

Barrett was arrested Friday night at Mrs. Barrett's home on Charles street, after he had threatened her with a shotgun. The gun was fired shooting holes in the refrigerator.

STOCK MARKET TURNS SPOTTY

Profit Taking Puts Pressure on Recent Climbers; Activity Turns Slower.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—Scattered spots of strength remained in today's stock market but assorted climbers of the past several weeks were subjected to moderate profit taking pressure.

The direction, slightly upward at the opening on fairly fast dealings, turned a bit leaky later and, near the fourth hour, trends were well mixed. Activity slowed.

Trimming of commitments here and there was attributed partly to the belief some technical correction was in the offing in view of the recent sharp advance. The war news was apparently uninspiring marketwise.

Commodities dipped as the anti-inflation drive got under way. Bonds steadied with carrier loans still selectively in favor.

Among stocks American Telephone pushed up briskly. Resistant also were Texas Co., Standard Oil (NJ), Westinghouse, General Electric, Union Carbide, J. C. Penney and International Nickel.

Rumanian factories are using methane gas piped from Transylvania, as a substitute for fuel oil.

Friends of Rev. Pagan, who was at the Center some time ago, have been given a special invitation to attend services, which will be held nightly for two weeks.

GRAIN PRICES IN GENERAL DECLINE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 5—Price control developments caused a general decline in grain market quotations today, wheat and rye leading the way with losses of about 2 cents a bushel at one time. Corn was off more than a cent to new lows for the season.

Selling was blamed by traders on uncertainty as to the price ceilings to be placed over grains as well as trade belief that no upward revision of crop loan rates is likely. With flour prices under ceiling regulations for the first time, dealers reported milling and flour trade activity was on a small scale while effect of the regulation was studied.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICE OPENS AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Will Include Special Meetings for Night Workers.

An evangelistic meeting, which will be held with services at 10 a. m. for persons who work at night and at 7:30 p. m. daily for two weeks, opened at Fite Memorial Baptist church yesterday.

Rev. William S. Dixon of Dallas, Tex., is in charge. He spoke last night on "The Greatest need of the World," stating that the need of the hour is not financial, commercial, national nor international, but it is to be found in the book of Romans, chapter 13, verse 11, "Now it is high time to awake out of sleep."

"Our convictions are slumbering," he said in part, "we know of evil around us but do nothing about it. Our conscience is slumbering, our devotional life, our faith and our courage. We neglect fitble reading and prayer and then, wonder why we are in the trouble which we face today. We neglect soul winning. Will the

Calories in Nutrition

"FOOD WILL win the war and food will dictate the peace." I hope Mr. Wickard has not withdrawn that statement. It appeals to me as a proper statement which has a prospect of being fulfilled.

At any rate, we are certainly nutrition minded today. In this and other articles which are to follow it from time to time I should like to review some of the fundamental principle of this subject which is of such world-shaking importance.

Although the vitamins have been stealing the show lately, the real fundamentals are calories. No supplements of vitamins or minerals can alter the laws of the conservation of energy. If you get enough calorie in your diet, it would take the ingenuity of all the brain trusters working like Kentucky miners to keep you from getting your vitamins. And if you plump on a calorie alone, you will starve to death, just the same as if you were on a desert island.

A calorie is not a bit but a unit of measurement. We find it daily life that we have to use units from morning till night. "What time is it?" "How tall is he?" "How hot is it?" So a calorie is the scientific nutritionist's way of answering "How much nutrition is there in that food?" It is a unit of heat, but a unit of heat practically is a unit of nutrition because your body temperature is kept level by the burning of calories.

Of course, the body is kept in temperature equilibrium by other things too.

The amount of heat given off by the resting man of average size is about equal to the heat of a 60 watt electric bulb or the flame of an alcohol lamp one inch high. A man exercising hard has the heat of ten such lamps. We all range between one or the other of these extremes in the course of every day, and on different days we use varying amounts of calories. We are not steady users of heat like the lamp. But an average can be struck and for this the term "basal metabolism" is employed.

It is the resultant of two factors; basal heat production and basal heat loss. Exercise or shivering produces heat; sweating or panting reduces the body's heat. A great many things besides activity and food affect the body's temperature — such as outside temperature. Last winter in Russia a soldier who had been keeping his heat production up by food and marching, if wounded, would fall to the ground and lose so much heat that he would be in shock in less than an hour.

The cooling that comes on a hot day from a movement of air is a most effective factor in heat loss. An air-conditioned room is uncomfortable unless there is an electric fan turned on every once in a while. You hear people say they are going to walk around to get cool; it ought to heat them up, but it makes sense. Even small movements of the body cause considerable increase in the flapping of the clothing.

Basal metabolism and basal temperature are thus closely related, both depending upon calories coming in or going out.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. B. B.—Is it harmful to eat raw beef?

Answer: Not from a nutritional standpoint, but you take an awful chance of getting trichinosis.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

I INSTANTLY recognized the room to which my father had led me, although I had not been in it for some time. It was the central room of the apartment, and next to the smaller rooms, really a soundproof "dungeon," opened.

That Carolyn approved the plan at all was clear from the terrified look in her eyes and her whitening lips. She had pulled herself together at once and when my father had unceremoniously "put them Carolyn" and taken a chair in the corner, she walked to it at once and sat down.

She was shrewd enough, I fancied, to know that tantrum or taunts would do her no good in dealing with him.

"The rest of you take chairs anywhere," my father said, as he took his place behind the table, where he could look at Carolyn.

There is no trick of grilling which my father does not know. As he sat silently regarding Carolyn, while a clock ticked away the seconds, I knew he was using one he had found most effective.

Carolyn endured this silent scrutiny, not moving face or hands, for almost five minutes. Then her hands unclenched, her face crumpled like that of a woebegone little girl, and she began to cry.

Carolyn's Promise

"I will be good," she said as a small child might after a punishment. "I'm sorry I've caused you all so much trouble, but I thought I was doing what was best for Marion. I see now wrong I was now."

"I am very glad you have come to your senses, Carolyn," my father said. There was such kindness and encouragement in his voice that for a panic-stricken instant I wondered if his protective instinct toward anything young and apparently helpless were blinding him to the girl's artifice.

Tyler Caldwell

But then I saw a wary, watchful look in his eyes, leaned back and relaxed. He knew exactly what he was doing.

"You can help us a great deal," he continued, "if you will only tell us what you know."

"But, Grandpa Spencer," she said pleadingly, and I noted that she used for the first time the affectionate term with which all the younger members of the family and even intimates address her, "I really don't know anything."

She stopped, and her protest was emphasized by the apparent bewilderment of her eyes.

"Then Why," my father asked his voice and face changing to sternness again, "did you try so hard to get away from your friends?"

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, Oct. 6

All the affairs of this day appear to be under excellent stimuli for notable success and gratification. Long static conditions may be stirred into high power pressure, by initiative determined effort and outstanding skill, audacity and ingenuity. Hard work, well-planned strategies and complete mastery of affairs in hand, could culminate with unexpected progress and prosperity.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured a year of outstanding success and prosperity, with all affairs being spurred into major climax and importance through bold strokes of initiative and ingenuity. Especially should old obstacles or static situations be spurred into life, largely through inducive, indomitable will power and well-directed energy, with new projects also flourishing.

A child born on this day should be an erratic, forceful, persistent and have great ingenuity and enterprise.

Tillie the Toiler — By Rus Westover

WHAT A PLACE FOR A FILM EPIC! AMERICAN WOMANHOOD MAGNIFICENTLY FLOCKING TO THE COLORS FOR THE FIRST TIME IN HISTORY. IT WILL BE COLOSSAL!
MR. MUZZARD AND I KNOW WHAT'S ON HIS MIND, GLORIFYING THE AMERICAN WALAC! THAT'S MUZZARD
HE CAN'T MAKE THIS POST OUT TO BE JUST A WHOOPEE GROUND FOR GLAMOR GIRLS! I'VE HEARD HIM TALK I CAN STAND IF I JUST DON'T HAVE TO LOOK AT HIM
SHOW HIM AROUND AND DON'T LET HIM BARGE IN WHERE HE SHOULDN'T KEEP YOUR EYE ON HIM EVERY MINUTE

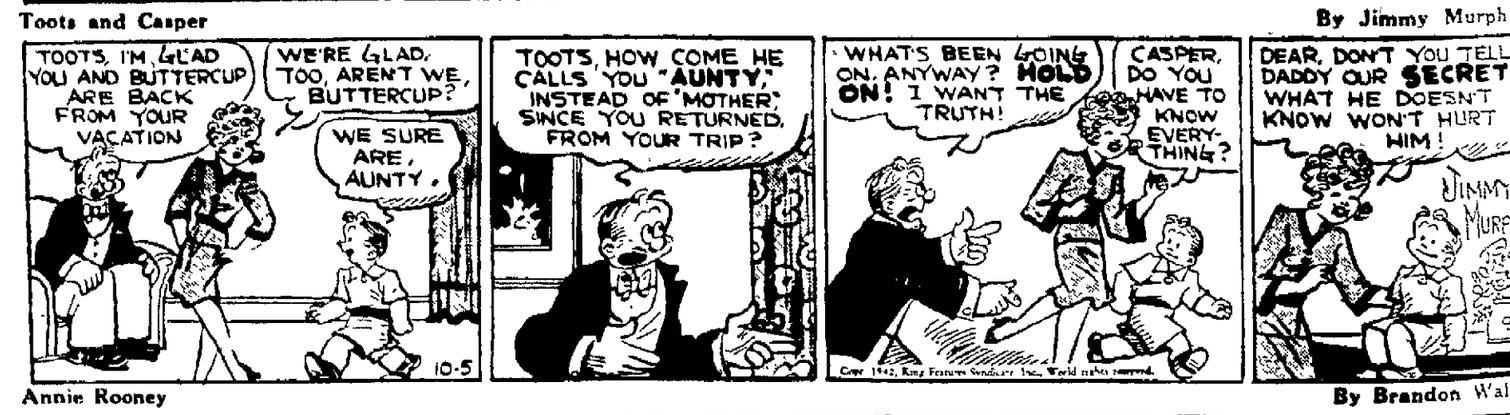
Toots and Casper — By Jimmy Murphy



TOOTS, I'M GLAD YOU AND BUTTERCUP ARE BACK FROM YOUR VACATION
WE'RE GLAD, TOO, AREN'T WE, BUTTERCUP?
WE SURE ARE, AUNTY.
TOOTS, HOW COME HE CALLS YOU "AUNTY," INSTEAD OF "MOTHER," SINCE YOU RETURNED FROM YOUR TRIP?
WHAT'S BEEN GOING ON, ANYWAY? HOLD ON! I WANT THE TRUTH!
CASPER, DO YOU HAVE TO KNOW EVERYTHING?
DEAR, DON'T YOU TELL DADDY OUR SECRET WHAT HE DOESN'T KNOW WON'T HURT HIM!

Annie Rooney — By Brandon Walsh

HONEST-I WISHT I WASN'T SUCH A DUMB OX-I TOLD MRS. RANCE I WAS SURE HER LOST BABY WOULD COME BACK TO HER—
AN' I WASN'T FOOLIN', CAUSE I WOULDN'T TELL HER ANY LIES -IT'S JUST THAT I FEEL SURE THE BABY IS COMIN' BACK—
BUT I DON'T KNOW HOW IT'S COMIN' BACK OR WHEN- I WISH I COULD FIGGER OUT WHAT TO DO TO HELP—
I DON'T EVEN KNOW WHAT MAKES ME SO SURE THE BABY IS COMIN' BACK-AN' STILL I CAN'T HELP KNOWIN' THAT IT IS—
